In relation to other Bonds the following statement is republished from my report for 1881:

"In addition to the above Bonds there appears to be outstanding $4,000 of Bonds issued in 1875, which have never been presented at the Treasury for payment of either principal or interest.

"There are also 7 per cent. Bonds of the State held by the Indian Trust Fund of the United States amounting to $132,000, but as an offset the State has a claim against the United States for an amount more than sufficient to cover the face of these Bonds with interest.

"Upon coming into office, I receipted to my predecessor, the Hon. Columbus Drew, for $75,000 of the six per cent. bonds authorized to be issued under the Act of February 21, 1873, which had not been sold or exchanged as provided by said act. They numbered from 2,951 to 3,700. These were destroyed on the 17th of February, 1881, by a committee of the Legislature appointed for that purpose."

COLLECTION OF TAXES.

In my annual report of January 1st, 1882, I took occasion to refer to the promptness and efficiency with which the taxes of 1880 had been collected. It is gratifying now to say, that the taxes of 1881 have been even more closely collected than those of 1880, as the table of receipts into the Treasury will show.

The system adopted by this office of keeping up the books strictly with accounting officers, and furnishing them monthly statements of the condition of their accounts, and impressing upon them the importance of regular returns and prompt settlements, while it requires more clerical force, has been found to work most efficiently; and has entailed less expense upon the State than would be incurred in sending out agents to the several counties to adjust accounts, and make settlements with the officers, as was often found to be necessary when the system referred to was not in practice.

It will not be out of place in this connection to state that, within the last two years there has occurred but two cases of delinquency among the Collectors, and the accounts of one of them is in suit, and the other in process of settlement. Of the

ACCOUNTS FORMERLY REPORTED,

I have this to say, that during the past two years the following compromise settlements have been made in accordance with the act of 1881. (Chapter 3236,) viz: With the sureties of John W. Butler, late Collector of Revenue, Santa Rosa county, on payment of $5,787.75; with E. J. Mizzell, late Collector for Polk county, on payment of $458; with the sureties of W. R. Pettis, late Collector for Leon county, on payment of $1,663, and all costs and fees, and W. F. Burnam, late Collector for Volusia county has paid in $1,051 in part settlement of his account. Many others, of the old cases, are yet pending in the courts, but nothing has been realized on them.

REVENUE FROM LICENSES.

This report shows that there has been, in the last two years, a very large increase in the occupation license tax, causing the revenue from this source to run up from $63,237.14 in 1880, to $104,785.62 in 1882. To avoid any misapprehension as to the causes of this increase, it may be stated that, notwithstanding the material change in the law in respect to the liquor license made by the last Legislature, the license reports show that the income from the tax on liquor dealers and on other occupations has increased at precisely the same ratio. This is better demonstrated by taking a full year under the old law, say from Oct. 1, 1879, to Oct. 1, 1880, and a year under the new law, say from Oct. 1, 1881, to Oct. 1, 1882, (the best periods for testing the operation of both,) and it appears that the revenue from liquor licenses during the year ending October 1, 1880, was (in round numbers) $35,000, and from all other licenses $28,000; and that the revenue from liquor licenses during the year ending Oct. 1, 1882, was $60,000, and from all other licenses $48,000, making an increase of 71 3-7 per cent. on both classes of licenses for the periods cited. This singular fact shows that this increase can be reasonably attributed to the business prosperity of the people.

I cannot refrain from adding that the system of issuing and reporting licenses, provided by the last legislature, has worked well, and has secured prompt and correct returns. If, however, it could be so devised as to have all licenses expire on the same day in the year, it would insure a more efficient collection of this part of the revenue.

INCREASE OF TAXABLE PROPERTY.

The increase of the taxable property of the State from thirty-one to forty-five million (in round figures) in the last two years is a striking evidence of the rapidly growing prosperity of the State. It must be remarked, however, that the last assessment includes more than three millions of Railroad property, for which exemption is claimed. The question of the liability of the particular Railroads claiming immunity from taxation, has been submitted to the Courts of the State by suits brought in compliance with a resolution adopted at the last session of the Legislature, with results favorable to the State, but the cases are now pending in the Supreme Court of the United States on appeal. But without this, there is an increase of at least eleven millions. Some of this increase may be attributed to the fact that a large number of lands have been listed the last year which escaped taxation heretofore on account of the difficulty of determining whether they were private or public property. The work undertaken about a year ago of making out from the United States and State Land Offices lists of the entries of public lands in many counties and furnishing them for the use of the Assessors, has aided these officers materially in adding to the land assessments of such counties. These lists, though inaccurate in many respects on account of the haste in which they were prepared, serve to demonstrate the importance of the work; and it is desirable that all the counties should be provided with them, and that those already made out should be revised and corrected. It is hoped, therefore, that the Legislature will provide the means for completing and perfecting this work, so that a full assessment of the lands in all the counties can be had, for it is believed that such a result would still further augment the taxable resources of the State.

APPROPRIATIONS.

It will be noticed that the estimate of the amount required to pay jurors and witnesses is less by $5,000 than the sum appropriated for that purpose for 1881 and 1882. This reduction is warranted by the diminished expenses of the Courts.

I find it necessary, however, to ask for $5,000 more on account of the expenses of collecting revenue. This is required because of the increase in the assessments and the licenses for the last year, and many of the accounts pertaining to this branch of expenditure for 1882 remain to be settled. This additional sum is only required for 1883. It is not asked for 1884.

It is also deemed necessary to ask for an increase in the contingent fund. A thousand dollars more is added because the sum heretofore appropriated is found to be insufficient for the purposes for which the fund was intended. The administration of justice has been crippled for the want of necessary means for offering rewards and defraying expenses for arresting criminals, for this is the only fund out of which that and other extraordinary and contingent expenses of the State can be paid, and it should be made adequate to meet the emergencies that may arise.

RATE OF TAXATION.

The table of assessment for 1882 shows that the taxable valuations amount to $45,285,977. But, as is stated elsewhere, more than three millions of this is upon Railroad property for which exemption is claimed. It is deemed safe, however, to base estimates for a revenue upon forty-two millions of tax-paying property, and if the income from licenses is not diminished, a rate of four mills on the dollar is thought to be sufficient to raise the revenue required to defray the current expenses of the State Government and meet the accruing interest on the bonded debt. This estimate is not intended to include the constitutional tax of one mill for school purposes.

I have the honor to be,

W. D. BARNES, Comptroller.
