An act to provide for the participation of the State of Florida in the Jamestown ter-centennial exposition to be held on and near the waters of Hampton Roads in the State of Virginia, in the year 1907, in commemoration of the first permanent settlement made in the United States by English speaking people in the year sixteen hundred and seven.

Whereas, The United States by an act of Congress has determined it to be desirable to commemorate, in fitting and appropriate manner, the birth of the American nation, the first permanent settlement of English speaking people on the American continent, made at Jamestown, Virginia, on the thirteenth day of May, in the year sixteen hundred and seven in order that the great events of American history which have resulted therefrom may be accentuated to the present and future generations of American citizens; and has inaugurated in the year nineteen hundred and seven on and near the water of Hampton Roads in the State of Virginia, an international naval, marine and military celebration, beginning on the thirteenth day of May and ending not later than the first day of November, in the year nineteen hundred and seven; and

Whereas, The State of Virginia by an act of its general assembly did provide for the celebration of said event by the holding of an industrial and historical exposition which is to be held on the shores of Hampton Roads contemporaneously and in conjunction with the celebration inaugurated by the United States government; and

Whereas, The State of Florida has been invited to participate in said exposition by exhibiting its extensive resources and thereby increasing its agricultural, manufacturing and industrial interests; and also by exhibiting to the world the prominent part this State has taken in the historical development of this great country, and thereby stimulating State and national pride and inculcating more lofty patriotism; therefore,

Mr. Harris moved the adoption of the amendment.

Which was agreed to.

And Senate Bill No. 315, as amended, was referred to the Committee on Engrossed Bills.

Hon. Park M. Trammell,

SIR—I am directed by the House of Representatives to inform the Senate that the House of Representatives has passed—

House Joint Resolution No. 501:

Whereas, General Fitzhugh Lee, soldier, statesman and patriot, departed this life at Washington on April 28, 1905, and

Whereas, General Lee's high character and distinguished services entitle his name to be perpetuated among the heroes of his country, therefore

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

First, That in the death of General Fitzhugh Lee this country has lost one of its most distinguished citizens, whose services in peace and war were the fullest exemplification of fidelity to principle and devotion to duty. As he was wise in council, he was brave and heroic in battle, illustrating the highest type of American manhood. That his memory will ever be enshrined in the hearts of his countrymen.

Second, That the following brief sketch of his distinguished career be perpetuated in the records of this body:

Fitzhugh Lee was born Nov. 19, 1835, in Fairfax County, Virginia. Inheriting the military spirit of his family, especially through his grandfather, "Light Horse Harry" Lee of Revolutionary fame, he sought and obtained an appointment to the Military Academy at West Point, from which he graduated with honor in the year of 1856. With the rank of Second Lieutenant, he was assigned to the Second Cavalry, which contained many names afterwards famous in history. Albert Sidney Johnston was its Colonel, and Robert E. Lee its Lieutenant Colonel and Hardee, Thomas, Hood, Kirby Smith and Stoneman were on its roll of its officers. Lieutenant Lee was active in scouting duty, and the Indian fighting of the western frontier of that time. On one occasion he received a severe wound from an arrow.

Upon the secession of Virginia in 1861, he promptly resigned his commission in the United States army and tendered his services to the Confederate Government. He served first on the staff of Gen. Ewell, was afterwards appointed Lieutenant Colonel of the First Virginia Cavalry, of which J. E. B. Stuart was Colonel. After Stuart's promotion he became Colonel of the Regiment, and was with Stuart in his famous raid around McClellan's army. In 1862 he was promoted to Brigadier General, and in 1863 to Major General of Cavalry. He participated with the cavalry with great gallantry in nearly all the battles of the Army of Northern Virginia. One of the last actions of that immortal army was a cavalry charge led by Fitzhugh Lee near Appomatox, on April 8, 1865, the day before the surrender, when he drove back the cavalry division of General Crook.

The end of the war between the states interrupted but did not terminate Fitzhugh Lee's public career. In 1886 he became Governor of Virginia, serving a four years term. Subsequently he was appointed by President Cleveland Collector of Internal Revenue for Virginia. In 1896 when a strong and discreet man was needed for the place, he was appointed Consul General of Cuba. With what courage and ability he filled that difficult position, during our strained relations with Spain, is a matter of recent history. His services were so much appreciated that upon his return to this country, he received a triumphal ovation. When war was declared with Spain, he again received a commission in the United States Army, in which his career had begun. This time as Major General of Volunteers, and he was given command of the Seventh Corps. The war terminated before he had the opportunity of engaging in battle, but the ability of its commander brought the corps up to a high state of efficiency and discipline.

After the war ended General Lee was appointed a Brigadier General in the regular army, and retired some years ago with that rank. Being yet a vigorous man, he accepted the position of President of the Jamestown Exposition Company, and entered upon and pursued this work with his characteristic zeal and energy, until he was stricken down by the messenger of death. Though his life was spared on the many bloody fields of battle, in which he took part, he fell, nevertheless, as he doubtless would have chosen, in the service of his country.

Third, Be it resolved that the Governor is requested to send a copy of this memorial to the widow of General Lee, under the great seal of the State, with the assurance of the profound sympathy of the people of Florida.

And respectfully requests the concurrence of the Senate thereto.

Very respectfully,

J. G. KELLUM,

Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives.

And House Joint Resolution No. 501 contained in the above message was read the first time.
