Which was agreed to.

House Joint Resolution No. 501:

Whereas, General Fitzhugh Lee, soldier, statesman and patriot, departed this life at Washington on April 28, 1905, and

Whereas, General Lee's high character and distinguished service entitles his name to be perpetuated among the heroes of his country, therefore,

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Florida:

First, That in the death of General Fitzhugh Lee this country has lost one of its most distinguished citizens, whose services in peace and war were the fullest exemplification of fidelity to principle and devotion to duty. As he was wise in council, he was brave and heroic in battle, illustrating the highest type of American manhood. That his memory will ever be enshrined in the hearts of his countrymen.

Second, That the following brief sketch of his distinguished career be perpetuated in the records of this body:

Fitzhugh Lee was born Nov. 19, 1835, in Fairfax County, Virginia. Inheriting the military spirit of his family, especially through his grandfather, "Light Horse Harry" Lee of Revolutionary fame, he sought and obtained an appointment to the Military Academy at West Point, from which he graduated with honor in the year of 1856. With the rank of Second Lieutenant, he was assigned to the Second Cavalry, which contained many names afterwards famous in history. Albert Sidney Johnston was its Colonel, and Robert E. Lee its Lieutenant Colonel and Hardee, Thomas, Hood, Kirby Smith and Stoneman were on its roll of its officers. Lieutenant Lee was active in scouting duty, and the Indian fighting of the western frontier of that time. On one occasion he received a severe wound from an arrow.

Ppon the secession of Virginia in 1861, he promptly resigned his commission in the United States Army and tendered his service to the Confederate Government. He served first on the staff of Gen. Ewell, was afterwards appointed Lieutenant Colonel of the First Virginia Cavalry, of which J. E. B. Stewart was Colonel. After Stuart's promotion he became Colonel of the Regiment, and was with Stuart in his famous raid around McClellan's army. In 1862 he was promoted to Brigadier General, and in 1863 to Major General of Cavalry. He participated with the cavalry with great gallantry in nearly all the battles of the Army of Northern Virginia. One of the last actions of that immortal army was a cavalry charge led by Fitzhugh Lee near Appomatox, on April 8, 1865, the day before the surrender, when he drove back the cavalry division of General Crook.

The end of the war between the states interrupted but did not terminate Fitzhugh Lee's public career. In 1886 he became Governor of Virginia, serving a four years term. Subsequently he was appointed by President Cleveland Collector of Internal Revenue for Virginia. In 1896 when a strong and discreet man was needed for the place, he was appointed Consul General of Cuba. With what courage and ability he filled that difficult position, during our strained relations with Spain, is a matter of recent history. His services were so much appreciated that upon his return to this country, he received a triumphal ovation. When war was declared with Spain, he again received a commission in the United States Army, in which his career had begun. This time as Major General of Volunteers and he was given command of the Seventh Corps. The war terminated before he had the opportunity or engaging in battle, but the ability of its commander brought the corps up to a high state of efficiency and discipline.

After the war ended General Lee was appointed a Brigadier General in the regular army, and retired some years ago with that rank. Being yet a vigorous man, he accepted the position of President of the Jamestown Exposition Company, and entered upon and pursued this work with his characteristic zeal and energy, until he was stricken down by the messenger of death. Though his life was spared on the many bloody fields of battle, in which he took part, he fell, nevertheless, as he doubtless would have chosen, in the service of his country.

Third, Be it resolved that the Governor is requested to send a copy of this memorial to the widow of General Lee, under the great seal of the State, with the assurance of the profound sympathy of the people of Florida.

Mr. Clerke moved that House Bill No. 106 be taken up out of its order and now considered.

Which was agreed to by a two-thirds vote.

And,

House Bill No. 106:

A bill to be entitled an act to amend Section 18 of Chapter 3248 Laws of Florida, the same being an act amending Section 18 of Chapter 5014 of the Laws of Florida entitled "an act to regulate the holding of political primary elections in the State of Florida, for nominating candidates for any office under the laws of this State and for nominating delegates to "political conventions," approved May 31st, 1901, said Chapter 5248 being approved June 3, 1903.

Was taken up and read a second time in full.

Mr. Clarke moved that the rules be further waived, and that House Bill No. 106 be read a third time in full and put upon its passage.

Which was agreed to by a two-thirds vote.

And House Bill No. 106 was read a third time inn full.
