MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

The following communication was read:

Tallahassee, Fla., April 8th, 1913.

Hon. H. J. Drane,
President of the Senate.

Sir:

I desire, through you, to submit the following proposition to your honorable body. I understand that about 2,000 copies of the Journal are printed each day, and about 1,600 of this number are mailed, and that it has taken from two to three clerks to do this work, at a cost of from ten to fifteen dollars per day, or a total, for the entire session, of from six to nine hundred dollars.

By virtue of the fact that I have a mailing machine with which I can rapidly handle the mailing of the Journals, I am in a position to make your honorable body an offer of $500.00 for mailing out all journals for the entire session, this, however, does not include postage. It will be the means of saving from $100.00 to $500.00 in expenses.

I respectfully ask that you give my offer your prompt and favorable attention.

Respectfully submitted,

T. J. APPELYARD, JR.
