Comptroller's Office, State of Florida.
Tallahassee, Fla., June 4, 1913.

*Hon. H. J. Drane,

Sir:

There are several Bills of importance pending in the Senate and I respectfully invite your attention and special consideration to the following, which are deemed to be necessary to this office in the enforcement of the law, viz:

Senate Bill No. 540:

To provide means for carrying out the provisions of an Act relating to county finances, approved May 26, 1913.

This Bill seeks to provide means to render the Act passed by the present Legislature effective and the purpose of the original Act is to systematize and give publicity to the financial affairs of the counties so that the citizens may be advised as to the expenditure of county money. Unless this enabling Bill is passed it will be impossible to carry out all the provisions of the law.

Also—

Senate Bill No. 180:

To amend the Trust Act of 1911.

This Bill is vital to the proper conduct of trust companies as it amends and clearly defines the most important provisions of the law which is vague and uncertain and defeats the object which it was intended to accomplish, i. e., to enable farmers to obtain money on real estate security at reasonable interest and for long time, and repeals a very hazardous provision which authorizes trust companies to guarantee the title to land and thereby place the money deposited by or for widows and orphans in great danger.

Also—

Senate Bill No. 338:

Amending the Banking Laws.

The provisions of this Bill are intended to enable the Comptroller to supervise more effectively the banks and banking companies; prevents foreign banking companies from doing unauthorized business; enables the Comptroller to assist the banks by stopping runs thereon temporarily; limits overdrafts and in other ways is a great improvement over the existing laws.

Respectfully,

W. V. KNOTT,
Comptroller.
