CONSIDERATION OF OTHER RESOLUTIONS

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 13:

Memorial to Honorable Robert Fenwick Taylor.

WHEREAS, Early in the year 1928 the State of Florida suffered the loss of one of her most distinguished and useful citizens in the death of the Honorable Robert Fenwick Taylor, long a member of the Supreme Court of this State. It is therefore deemed most appropriate that the Legislature should record the appreciation felt by the people of Florida for the unusually valuable services rendered by that sterling citizen and jurist during his long life so earnestly devoted to the welfare of this State.

Judge Taylor was born in Beaufort District, South Carolina, March 10, 1849, but at a very early age moved with his parents to Florida. He grew to manhood in Marion and Alachua Counties, chose the profession of law for his life work and entered upon its practice in the City of Gainesville. At the Bar Judge Taylor enjoyed great success, his bright mind, constant study, unflinching fairness and courtesy to competitors and zealous loyalty to the interests of clients soon establishing for him an enviable position as a successful practitioner.

Among the qualities that made Judge Taylor so distinguished in his services to the State and so much admired in his personal contacts, were mental strength, firmness, sincerity, thoroughness, liberality and modesty. His keen perception and foresight and his knowledge of the fundamental principles of government made him one of the leaders of the Constitutional Convention of 1885, when the present organic law of the State was formulated. On January 1, 1891, he was appointed a Justice of the Supreme Court of Florida by Governor Francis P. Fleming. He remained a member of the Court for more than 34 years, and was four times chosen Chief Justice. His judicial opinions are an imperishable monument to his ability, learning, research and patriotic devotion to sound principles of law and of government. On March 2, 1925, he voluntarily resigned from the Bench after serving longer than any other member in the history of the Court. In his death on February 26, 1928, the State lost one of its most honored and useful citizens whose memory is revered and whose public services are an inspiration. It is therefore,

RESOLVED, By the Senate, the House of Representatives concurring, that this expression of appreciation of Judge Taylor's eminent services to the State of Florida be spread upon the permanent records of the Senate and of the House of Representatives.

Which was read the second time.

The question was put upon the adoption of the resolution.

And the same was agreed to, and the Resolution was adopted. Senate Bills Nos. 62, 91 and 63, were taken up in their order and the consideration of the same was temporarily passed over.
