By Senators Holland, Sikes and Gillis—

Senate Joint Resolution No. 216:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Section 1 of Article V, Judiciary Department, Constitution of Florida, relating to the distribution of the Judicial power of the State; and proposing an amendment to said Article by adding thereto fifteen additional sections to be known as Sections 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59 and 60, providing for the creation of County Courts of Record; abolishing all the Civil Courts of Record and the offices of the Judges thereof; abolishing all the Criminal Courts of Record, the offices of the Judges, the Clerks, the County Solicitors and the Assistant County Solicitors thereof; abolishing all the Courts of Crimes and offices of the Judges thereof; abolishing all the County Courts and the offices of the Prosecuting Attorneys thereof; abolishing all the offices of the County Judges and of the Justices of the Peace and of the Constables and relating to the Court of Record of Escambia County; to take effect at midnight on July 31, 1937.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA:

That the following amendment to Section 1 of Article V Judiciary Department, Constitution of Florida, and the following amendment to said Article V by adding thereto fifteen additional sections, to be known as Sections 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59 and 60, be and the same are hereby agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of the State, at the general election to be held in 1936, for ratification or rejection, to take effect at midnight on July 31, 1937.

Section I of Article V, Judiciary Department, Constitution of Florida, be amended to read as follows:

Section 1. The judicial power of the State shall be vested in a Supreme Court, Circuit Courts, County Courts of Record, a Court of Record in and for Escambia County, and in such commissions with jurisdiction over neglected, dependent or delinquent juveniles as the Legislature may establish; and in such commission or commissions for the regulation of public utilities as the Legislature may establish.

That said Article V Judiciary Department, Constitution of Florida, be amended by adding thereto Sections 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59 and 60, as follows:

46. All of the civil courts of record and the offices of the judges thereof; all of the criminal courts of record, the offices of the judges, the clerks, the county solicitors, and the assistant county solicitors thereof; all of the courts of crimes and the offices of the Judges thereof; all of the county courts and the offices of the prosecuting attorneys thereof; and all of the offices of the county judges and of the justices of the peace and of the constables; are hereby abolished.

47. There is hereby created a county court of record in each county, with one or more judges as shall be prescribed by law. The judge or judges of said court shall be elected by the qualified electors of the county at the time and places of voting for members of the Legislature, and shall hold office for four years. The compensation of judges of said court shall be prescribed by law. No person shall be appointed or elected as judge of the county court of record who is not at least twenty-five years of age, a citizen of Florida, and an attorney at law authorized to practice law in the courts of this State. The county courts of record shall be courts of record.

48. The powers and jurisdiction of county courts of record and the judges thereof shall be prescribed by general law. The Legislature may, however, classify counties on a basis of population, and prescribe, accordingly, the powers and jurisdiction of county courts of record.

Until the Legislature shall prescribe the powers and jurisdiction of county courts of record and the judges thereof, and, by general law, classify counties on a basis of population and prescribe the powers and jurisdiction of each class, the following shall be effective:

(a) In counties having a population of forty-two thousand or less, according to the preceding census, state or federal, and in Escambia County, said courts, and the judges thereof shall have original jurisdiction of all misdemeanors; of all cases at law in which the demand or value of the property involved shall not exceed five hundred dollars, exclusive of interest and costs; of proceedings relating to forcible entry or unlawful detention of lands and tenements; of the settlement of estates of decedents and minors; to order the sale of real estate of decedents and minors, to take probate of wills, to grant letters testamentary and of administration and guardianship, and to discharge the duties usually pertaining to courts of probate; and they shall have the power of committing magistrates, to conduct coroners' inquests with or without a jury, and all other powers and jurisdiction now vested by law in county judges and justices of the peace.

(b) In counties having a population of more than forty-two thousand, according to the preceding census, state or federal, except in Escambia County, said courts, and the judges thereof, in addition to the powers and jurisdiction provided in paragraph (a) of this section, shall have original jurisdiction of all crimes not punishable by death or imprisonment in the state prison for a greater term than ten years; and of all cases at law in which the demand or value of the property involved shall not exceed three thousand dollars, exclusive of interest and costs.

49. The circuit courts shall have final appellate jurisdiction in all cases arising in the county courts of record, except when county courts of record are given jurisdiction to try felonies, in which case the appeal to review a judgment of conviction of felony in said courts shall be direct to the Supreme Court and except the Supreme Court shall have appellate jurisdiction of appeals from the circuit courts in cases arising before judges of the county courts of record in matters pertaining to their probate jurisdiction and in the management of the estates of infants and insane persons.

Until otherwise prescribed by rule or law, appeals in probate matters and guardianships shall be in accordance with the provisions of Chapter 16103, Acts of 1933 (An Act relating to wills and probate thereof, etc.), and appeals to the Supreme Court from a judgment of conviction of felony shall be as now provided by law for such appeals from the circuit courts to the Supreme Court, and appeals in all other cases shall be in accordance with Chapter 7841, Acts of 1919 (An Act to provide a simplified method of appeal and prosecuting appeals from county courts, etc.).

When an appeal shall be taken by the defendant in a criminal case, involving the validity of a statute or violation of a right guaranteed by the Constitution, to the circuit court from a judgment of the county court of record and the said judgment shall be affirmed by the circuit court; or when an appeal shall be taken in a civil case, involving the validity of a statute or violation of a right guaranteed by the Constitution to the circuit court from a judgment of the county court of record; it shall be competent for the Supreme Court to require, on petition to be filed within thirty days after said judgment by the circuit court, the record in such case to be certified to the Supreme Court for review and determination; and the Supreme Court shall prescribe such rules and regulations as it may deem proper for carrying into effect the provisions of this paragraph.

50. When there are two or more judges of the county court of record in a county, the distribution of the business of the court between the judges thereof, and the allotment or assignment of matters and cases to be heard, decided, tried or adjudged, shall be controlled by the judge oldest in continuous service as judge of said court in the county. Each judge of said court may hear, consider and determine causes and exercise all powers and jurisdiction of said court, and shall reside in the territorial jurisdiction of the court in which he is judge.

51. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court may in his discretion, assign one or more judges of the county court of record to a county court of record in a county in which they do not reside, to perform such judicial functions as may be assigned to them, and the Legislature shall make provision for payment of the necessary expenses, incident to such assignment of judges of the county court of record.

52. The State Attorney shall be the prosecuting attorney in all county courts of record within his judicial circuit; and the Legislature shall provide for the appointment by the State Attorney of a sufficient number of assistant State attorneys in each of the various judicial circuits to carry on the prosecution of crime within the territorial boundaries of the Judicial circuit, who shall be under the supervision of the State Attorney, and shall have all the power and authority of State attorneys within their respective Judicial circuits. The compensation of assistant State attorneys shall be prescribed by law and paid by the State. Assistant State attorneys shall hold office during the will of the State Attorney.

53. All crimes triable in the county court of record shall be prosecuted on information, under oath, to be filed by the State Attorney or his assistant, or on indictment by a grand jury. Upon the finding of an indictment for a crime triable in the county court of record, the circuit court shall commit or bail the accused for trial in the county court of record, which trial may be on the indictment.

54. Until otherwise prescribed by rule or law, county courts of record shall hold six terms of court in each year, commencing on the second Monday in the months of January, March, May, July, September and November, and may, during vacation, settle pleadings, hear, try, and dispose of all civil and criminal cases within their jurisdiction when a jury shall be waived or when a jury shall not be required by law; and all forms, writs, procedure, forms of process, and rules of pleading, practice and evidence, prescribed for proceedings in probate matters and guardianships shall apply to such proceedings in said court; and, in all other proceedings, all forms, writs, procedure, forms of process, and rules of pleading, practice and evidence prescribed for circuit courts shall apply to said county courts of record, and all judgments of said court shall be liens on real estate in like manner as judgments of the circuit courts; and all rules and laws prescribing and regulating the issuance, service, and return of process in probate matters and guardianships shall apply to county courts of record, and, in all other matters, all rules and laws prescribing and regulating the issuance, service, and return of process for circuit courts shall apply to county courts of record; and the county commissioners in the various counties shall supply all necessary books and records for said county courts of record.

55. The county judges holding office at the time this constitutional amendment becomes effective shall severally continue in office as judges of the county courts of record, respectively, in the counties in which they hold office, until the expiration of their then existing terms of office; and all judges of the civil courts of record (in counties where civil courts of record exist at the time this amendment becomes effective), and all judges of the criminal courts of record (in counties where criminal courts of record exist at the time this amendment becomes effective), shall severally continue in office as judges of the county courts of record, respectively, in the counties in which they hold office, until the expiration of their then existing terms of office; and, thereafter, until the Legislature shall prescribe otherwise, there shall be one judge of the county court of record in each county in the state, except in the counties of Orange, Palm Beach, Polk, Pinellas and Volusia, which shall have two each, and except in the counties of Dade, Duval and Hillsborough, which shall have three each.

56. All cases, causes and matters pending in the civil courts of record, criminal courts of record, courts of crimes, county courts, county judges' courts, and courts of justice of the peace, at the time this Constitutional Amendment becomes effective, of which the circuit courts or the county courts of record are given jurisdiction by this amendment or by law, shall be immediately transferred by the respective judges of said courts to the circuit court or to the county court of record accordingly as jurisdiction is vested in the circuit court or the county court of record.

57. Cases and matters pending in the circuit courts at the time this constitutional amendment becomes effective, of which the county courts of record are given jurisdiction by this amendment or by law, shall not be transferred to the county courts of record, but shall be retained by the circuit courts and disposed of in said circuit courts. Review in such causes and matters shall lie to the Supreme Court in like manner as in other causes and matters of which the circuit courts are given jurisdiction.

58. The clerks of the circuit courts shall be clerks of the county courts of record in their respective counties.

59. The Court of Record of Escambia County shall, in said county, have and exercise original jurisdiction, concurrent with the county court of record of said county, of all misdemeanors and actions at law of which said county court of record shall have jurisdiction and in all such causes, civil and criminal, arising in said Court of Record of Escambia County, the circuit court shall have final appellate jurisdiction in like manner as if said court of record were a county court of record. In all other respects the jurisdiction of said Court of Record of Escambia County and the Judge thereof shall remain as fixed by Section 39 of Article V of the Constitution of Florida.

60. The foregoing sections numbered 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, and 59 shall take effect at midnight on July 31, 1937.
