After a decision, order, or requirement has been made by the Commission in any proceeding any party thereto may at any time make application for rehearing of the same, or any matter determined therein, and it shall be lawful for the Commission in its discretion to grant such a rehearing if sufficient reason therefor be made to appear. Applications for rehearing shall be governed by such general rules as the Commission may establish. Within thirty days after the entry of the order or decision of the Commission or within thirty days after the application for a rehearing is denied, or, if the application is granted, then within thirty days after the rendition of the decision on rehearing, the applicant may apply to any Court of competent jurisdiction to enjoin, set aside, annul or suspend, in whole or in part, any such order or decision on the ground that such order is unlawful or unreasonable. No new or additional evidence may be introduced in such suit but the cause shall be heard on the record of the Commission as certified to by it. If it appears that the Commission failed to receive evidence properly proffered, on a hearing or rehearing, or an application therefor, the Court shall remand the case to the Commission with instructions to receive the testimony so proffered and rejected, and to enter a new order based upon the evidence theretofore taken, and such new evidence as it is directed to receive unless it shall appear that such new evidence would not be controlling, in which case the Court shall so find in its order. In all collateral actions or proceedings the orders and decisions of the Commission shall be conclusive.

Section 3. The pendency of a suit to enjoin, set aside, annul or suspend any order or decision of the Railroad Commission shall not of itself stay or suspend the operation of such order or decision; but the Court in its discretion may stay or suspend, in whole or in part the operation of such order or decision pending the final hearing and determination of the suit. No order so staying or suspending an order or decision of the Commission shall be made by the Court otherwise than upon five days' notice and after hearing, and if the order of the Commission is stayed or suspended the order suspending the same shall contain a specific finding based upon evidence submitted to the Court and identified by reference thereto, that great or irreparable damage would otherwise result to applicant and specifying the nature of the damage; provided, however, that the Court may grant a temporary stay restraining the operation of the Commission order or decision at any time before such hearing and determination of the application for a stay in the event it be of the opinion that irreparable loss or damage would result to applicant unless such temporary stay be granted, but such temporary stay shall remain in force only until the hearing and determination of the application for a stay upon notice as aforesaid. The hearing of such application for stay shall be given precedence and shall be expedited and assigned for hearing at the earliest practicable day after the expiration of notice herein above provided for. Every such temporary stay shall define the injury and state why it appears to be irreparable and why the order was granted without notice, and shall by its terms expire within such time after entry not to exceed ten days as the Court may fix unless within the time so fixed the order is extended for a like period for good cause shown and the reasons of such extension shall be entered of record. In case the order or decision of the Commission is stayed or a temporary stay granted the order of the Court shall not become effective until a suspending bond shall first have been executed and filed with and approved by the Court sufficient in amount and security to insure the prompt payment of all moneys which any person or corporation may be compelled to pay pending such proceedings, for transportation, transmission, product, commodity or service in excess of the charges fixed by the order or decision of the Commission, in case said order or decision is sustained.

Section 4. The Court may dismiss the suit, or enjoin, set aside, annul or suspend the order or decision complained of, in whole or in part, as the case may be; but in case the order or decision is wholly or partly vacated the Court may also, in its discretion, remand the matter to the Commission for such further proceedings, not inconsistent with its decree, as in the opinion of the Court justice may require. The order or decision shall not be enjoined, set aside annulled or suspended, either in whole or in part, except for errors of law unless the Court is satisfied that the order or decision violates constitutional rights.

Section 5. All laws and parts of laws in conflict with the provisions of this Act be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 6. This Act shall take effect immediately upon becoming a law.

Have carefully examined same, and find same correctly engrossed, and return same herewith,

Very respectfully,

J. W. TURNER,
