ARTICLE III

LEGISLATIVE

Section 1. Composition.—The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a Legislature of the State of Florida, consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives, whose sessions shall be held at the seat of government.

Section 2. (a) Regular sessions—extensions.—A regular legislative session shall be convened on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April of each odd-numbered year for not more than sixty consecutive days; provided, by three-fifths vote of the members of each house it may be extended for not more than thirty additional calendar days, not necessarily consecutive but not extending beyond the following August, during which no new legislation may be introduced without the consent of two thirds of the members of the house in which it originates.

(b) Extra sessions.—When within sixty days from filing of the first certificate one fifth of the members of each house of the legislature shall have filed with the secretary of state their certificates that an extra session of the legislature is required for the common good, he shall within seven days thereafter give notice thereof to all legislators by registered mail and poll them on the question: "Shall such session be held?" If three fifths of the members of each house shall within fifteen days after such mailing file with him their affirmative votes thereon, he shall call such session to convene on a date fixed by him not less than fourteen or more than twenty-one days after such mailing. Such session shall not exceed thirty consecutive days.

(c) Special sessions.—The governor may by proclamation stating the purpose convene the legislature in special session not to exceed twenty consecutive days, during which only such legislative business may be transacted as is within the purview of the proclamation or of a communication from the governor, or is consented to by two-thirds vote of each house.

(d) Reapportionment sessions.—The legislature shall meet in session as provided herein for reapportionment of representation in the senate and house of representatives.

(e) Organization—expenses.—The legislature may in any session provide for its organization, expenses, and other incidental matters, including per diem of members.

(f) Adjournment by governor.—If the two houses cannot agree upon a time for adjournment, the governor may adjourn the legislature sine die or to any date within the period authorized for such session.

Section 3. (a) First legislature.—The first legislature shall be composed of the members elected pursuant to the Constitution of 1885, whose terms of office shall expire as therein provided.

(b) Terms of legislators—vacancies.—Each representative shall be elected for a term of two years and each senator for a term of four years at a general election by the electors of the area he represents. He shall take office upon election. Vacancies shall be filled by special election as provided by law.

(c) Senatorial districts.—Each senator shall represent a senatorial district designated by number in consecutive order. In the first legislature senators representing odd-numbered districts shall be those elected in 1956 and senators representing even-numbered districts shall be those elected in 1958. Their respective successors shall be elected at the general election held in the year in which their respective terms expire.

(d) Qualifications of legislators.—Each legislator shall be at least twenty-one years of age. He shall be an elector and resident of the area from which elected. If he fails to maintain such resident during his term of office his seat shall be vacated.

When transacting legislative business other than during regular or special sessions he shall receive travel and per diem allowances as may be fixed by the legislature.

Section 4. Reapportionment of senate.—The state shall be divided into 42 senatorial districts. At the regular session in 1959, and at the regular session in 1963 and decennially thereafter, the legislature shall by concurrent resolution reapportion the representation in the senate and revise the senatorial districts to the end that there may be fair and equitable representation based upon population, geographic area and community of interests, using the most recent federal census as the basis for the population phase of such reapportionment; provided:

(a) There shall be not more than one senator for each senatorial district.

(b) Two or more counties forming a senatorial district shall not be entirely separated by territory of another district.

(c) No county shall be divided in creating a district.

Section 5. Reapportionment of house of representatives.—At the same sessions as for the senate, the legislature shall apportion the representation in the house of representatives, and shall allow three (3) representatives to each of the five most populous counties, and two (2) representatives to each of the next eighteen more populous counties, and one representative to each of the remaining counties of the State at the time of such apportionment. Should the legislature fail to apportion the representation in the house of representatives, at any regular session of the legislature at any of the times herein designated, it shall be the duty of the legislature or legislatures succeeding such regular session of the legislature, either in special or regular session, to apportion the representation in the house of representatives as herein provided. The preceding regular federal census shall control in making any such reapportionment. In the event the legislature shall fail to reapportion the representation as required by this amendment, the governor shall (within thirty days after the adjournment of the regular session), call the legislature together in extraordinary session to consider the question of reapportionment and such extraordinary session of the legislature is hereby mandatorily required to reapportion the representation as required by this amendment before its adjournment (and such extraordinary session so called for reapportionment shall not be limited to expire at the end of twenty days or at all, until reapportionment is effected, and shall consider no business other than such reapportionment).

Section 6. Representation of newly created county.—A newly created county shall have one representative in the house of representatives until the succeeding reapportionment, and until that time shall be part of such senatorial district as the legislature shall designate.

Section 7. Continuing duty to reapportion.—It shall be the continuing duty and the preferential order of business of the legislature in every regular, extra, special, or other session to reapportion the representation as herein provided.

Section 8. Reapportionment sessions—alternative methods.—In the event the legislature shall fail to reapportion the representation in the legislature at any regular session when so required, the governor shall within thirty days after adjournment thereof call the legislature into extraordinary session to perform its duty in that behalf. Such session shall transact no other business, shall not recess for more than twenty-four hours, and shall complete reapportionment before adjournment; provided, the governor may, after the lapse of sixty days from the date such session is convened, by proclamation recess to a future date or adjourn the legislature sine die.

Section 9. Organization—officers.—Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections, and returns of its members, and upon convening each regular session shall choose its officers, including a permanent presiding officer selected from its membership, who shall be designated in the senate as President of the Senate, and in the house as Speaker of the House of Representatives. The senate shall designate a Secretary, to serve at its pleasure, and the house of representatives shall designate a Chief Clerk, to serve at its pleasure.

Section 10. Procedure—adjournment—open doors—journal—discipline—compelling attendance.—Except as provided herein, each house shall determine its rules of procedure. Neither house may adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the other. The senate may close its doors to the public while sitting in executive session. Other sessions of each house shall be public. Each house shall keep and publish a journal of its proceedings, in which the yeas and nays of each member on any question shall be entered upon request of five members present. Each house may punish a member for contempt and by vote of two thirds of the members present may expel him. A majority of the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum, but less than a quorum may adjourn from day to day, compel attendance of absent members, and prescribe penalties for failure to attend.

Section 11. Attendance of witnesses—production of evidence—contempt and penalties.—Each house may when in session compel attendance of witnesses and production of public and private documents and other evidence upon any matter under investigation before it or any of its committees, and may punish by fine not exceeding $1,000 or imprisonment not exceeding ninety days any person not a member who has been guilty of disorderly or contemptuous conduct in its presence or has refused to obey its lawful summons or to answer lawful questions. For making investigations between sessions the legislature may confer such powers upon any committee of legislators by a law limited to the committee designated, to a stated period of operation, and to the matters specifically assigned. The manner of exercising such powers, with appropriate right of appeal, shall be prescribed by law.

Section 12. Form of bill—one subject—title—amendment—enacting clause.—Every law shall embrace but one subject and matter properly connected therewith, which subject shall be briefly expressed in the title. No law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title only. Laws to revise or amend shall set out in full the revised act or amended section, subsection, or paragraph of a subsection. The enacting clause of every law shall read: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida."

Section 13. Passage of bills.—Any bill may originate in either house and after passage in one may be amended in the other. In each house it shall be read on three separate days unless two thirds of the members present when the bill is pending waive this rule. Its first reading shall be by title only unless one third of the members present order it read in full. Its second reading shall be in full unless two thirds of the members present order it read by title only. Its third reading shall be in full unless it is a general revision of the entire laws, in which instance two thirds of the members present may order it read by title only. In each house passage of a bill shall require a majority vote of the members present. It shall be signed by the presiding officers of the respective houses and by the secretary of the senate and the chief clerk of the house of representatives. On final passage the vote in each house shall be taken by yeas and nays and entered on its journal.

Section 14. Executive approval—veto—item veto of appropriations—repassage.—Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor for his approval and shall become a law if he approves and signs it, or fails to do so or to veto it within seven days after presentation; provided, if during such period the legislature finally adjourns or takes a recess of more than thirty days he shall have twenty days from the date of adjournment or recess to act on the bill. In all cases except general appropriation bills, the veto shall extend to the entire bill. The governor may veto specific items of a general appropriation bill.

When a bill or any item of a general appropriation bill has been vetoed by the governor, he shall transmit his signed objections thereto to the house in which the bill originated. If that house is not in session he shall file them with the secretary of state, who shall lay them before that house at its next session, and they shall be entered on its journal.

If both houses shall reenact the bill or reinstate a vetoed item of an appropriation bill by two-thirds vote of the members present, the yeas and nays shall be entered on the respective journals, and the bill shall become law or the item reinstated, the veto notwithstanding.

Section 15. Effective date of laws.—No law shall take effect until sixty days from the final adjournment of the session of the legislature in which enacted, unless otherwise provided therein.

The classification by general law of counties, municipalities, and special districts according to population shall, as to those falling within a different class by reason of change in population, become operative thirty days after the adjournment of the regular session of the legislature next convening after certification of the census establishing such change.

Section 16. Distribution of laws—judicial decisions.—The legislature shall provide for prompt distribution to the public of copies of all laws. Laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Section 17. Special and local laws—requisites for enactment.—No special law or local law shall be passed unless notice of intention to seek enactment thereof has been published, in the manner provided by law, in each county in the area to be affected thereby, not less than thirty days or more than ninety days prior to introduction in the legislature. Proof of publication shall be recited on the journal of each house and evidence of publication preserved with the bill in the office of the secretary of state. Such notice shall not be necessary when the law is conditioned to become effective only upon approval by vote of the electors.

Section 18. Impeachment — effect — filling office during trial.—The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment but a vote of two-thirds of all members present shall be required to impeach any officer; and all impeachments shall be tried by the senate. When sitting for that purpose the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation, and no persons shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the senate present. The senate may adjourn to a fixed date for the trial of any impeachment, and may sit for the purpose of such trial whether the house of representatives be in session or not, but the time fixed for such trial shall not be more than six months from the time articles of impeachment shall be preferred by the house of representatives. The chief justice shall preside at all trials by impeachment except in the trial of the chief justice, when the governor shall preside. The governor, administrative officers of the executive department, justices of the Supreme Court, and judges of the district court of appeal and the circuit court shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor in office, but judgment in such cases shall extend only to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under the state; but the party convicted or acquitted shall nevertheless be liable to indictment trial and punishment according to law.

Immediately upon impeachment by the house of representatives, the officer shall be disqualified from performing any duties until acquitted by the senate, and the governor shall appoint an incumbent to fill such office pending the trial. Upon impeachment of the governor, the officer next in line of succession to the office of governor shall act as governor pending the trial.

Section 19. Appropriation bills — withdrawal of public funds.—Laws making appropriations for salaries of public officers and other current expenses of the state shall contain provisions on no other subject. No money shall be drawn from the treasury unless appropriated by law.

Section 20. Officers not provided for herein.—The legislature shall provide for election by the people or appointment by the governor of all state and county officers in cases in which the method of section is not provided herein.

Section 21. Civil service systems and boards.—The legislature may create or abolish civil service systems and boards for state, county, district, or municipal employees, and also for such officers thereof as are not elected or appointed by the governor, and may authorize such boards to prescribe the qualifications, methods of selection, and tenure of such employees and officers.

Section 22. Mechanics liens.—The legislature shall provide for giving to mechanics and other laborers an adequate lien on the subject matter of their labor.

Section 23. Alcoholic beverages—legislative authority.—In those counties in which the sale of intoxicating beverages is not prohibited as herein provided, the legislature shall regulate the manufacture and sale thereof by private persons or provide for the manufacture or sale thereof by the state or a state agency.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA:

That the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Florida relating to the Legislative Department of the Government is hereby agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of this State for ratification or rejection at the next general election to be held in November of 1958, that is to say:

LEGISLATIVE

Section 1. Composition.—The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a Legislature of the State of Florida, consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives, whose sessions shall be held at the seat of government.

Section 2. (a) Regular sessions—extensions.—A regular legislative session shall be convened on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April of each odd-numbered year for not more than sixty consecutive days; provided, by three-fifths vote of the members of each house it may be extended for not more than thirty additional calendar days, not necessarily consecutive but not extending beyond the following August, during which no new legislation may be introduced without the consent of two thirds of the members of the house in which it originates.

(b) Extra sessions.—When within sixty days from filing of the first certificate one fifth of the members of each house of the legislature shall have filed with the secretary of state their certificates that an extra session of the legislature is required for the common good, he shall within seven days thereafter give notice thereof to all legislators by registered mail and poll them on the question: "Shall such session be held?" If three fifths of the members of each house shall within fifteen days after such mailing file with him their affirmative votes thereon, he shall call such session to convene on a date fixed by him not less than fourteen or more than twenty-one days after such mailing. Such session shall not exceed thirty consecutive days.

(c) Special sessions.—The governor may by proclamation stating the purpose convene the legislature in special session not to exceed twenty consecutive days, during which only such legislative business may be transacted as is within the purview of the proclamation or of a communication from the governor, or is consented to by two-thirds vote of each house.

(d) Reapportionment sessions.—The legislature shall meet in session as provided herein for reapportionment of representation in the senate and house of representatives.

(e) Organization—expenses.—The legislature may in any session provide for its organization, expenses, and other incidental matters, including per diem of members.

(f) Adjournment by governor.—If the two houses cannot agree upon a time for adjournment, the governor may adjourn the legislature sine die or to any date within the period authorized for such session.

Section 3. (a) First legislature.—The first legislature shall be composed of the members elected pursuant to the Constitution of 1885, whose terms of office shall expire as therein provided.

(b) Terms of legislators—vacancies.—Each representative shall be elected for a term of two years and each senator for a term of four years at a general election by the electors of the area he represents. He shall take office upon election. Vacancies shall be filled by special election as provided by law.

(c) Senatorial districts.—Each senator shall represent a senatorial district designated by number in consecutive order. In the first legislature senators representing odd-numbered districts shall be those elected in 1956 and senators representing even-numbered districts shall be those elected in 1958. Their respective successors shall be elected at the general election held in the year in which their respective terms expire.

(d) Qualifications of legislators.—Each legislator shall be at least twenty-one years of age. He shall be an elector and resident of the area from which elected. If he fails to maintain such resident during his term of office his seat shall be vacated.

(e) Eligibility for other office.—Except as provided herein, no legislator shall during the term for which elected be appointed to any state civil office created during such term.

(f) Compensation—allowances.—Each legislator shall receive compensation, payable monthly, not exceeding $2,400 per annum until November 1962 and thereafter as provided by law. When transacting legislative business other than during regular or special sessions he shall receive travel and per diem allowances as may be fixed by the legislature.

Section 4. Reapportionment of senate.—The state shall be divided into 42 senatorial districts. At the regular session in 1959, and at the regular session in 1963 and decennially thereafter, the legislature shall by concurrent resolution reapportion the representation in the senate and revise the senatorial districts to the end that there may be fair and equitable representation based upon population, geographic area and community of interests, using the most recent federal census as the basis for the population phase of such reapportionment; provided:

(a) There shall be not more than one senator for each senatorial district.

(b) Two or more counties forming a senatorial district shall not be entirely separated by territory of another district.

(c) No county shall be divided in creating a district.

Section 5. Reapportionment of house of representatives.—At the same sessions as for the senate, the legislature shall apportion the representation in the house of representatives, and shall allow three (3) representatives to each of the five most populous counties, and two (2) representatives to each of the next eighteen more populous counties, and one representative to each of the remaining counties of the State at the time of such apportionment. Should the legislature fail to apportion the representation in the house of representatives, at any regular session of the legislature at any of the times herein designated, it shall be the duty of the legislature or legislatures succeeding such regular session of the legislature, either in special or regular session, to apportion the representation in the house of representatives as herein provided. The preceding regular federal census shall control in making any such reapportionment. In the event the legislature shall fail to reapportion the representation as required by this amendment, the governor shall (within thirty days after the adjournment of the regular session), call the legislature together in extraordinary session to consider the question of reapportionment and such extraordinary session of the legislature is hereby mandatorily required to reapportion the representation as required by this amendment before its adjournment (and such extraordinary session so called for reapportionment shall not be limited to expire at the end of twenty days or at all, until reapportionment is effected, and shall consider no business other than such reapportionment).

Section 6. Representation of newly created county.—A newly created county shall have one representative in the house of representatives until the succeeding reapportionment, and until that time shall be part of such senatorial district as the legislature shall designate.

Section 7. Continuing duty to reapportion.—It shall be the continuing duty and the preferential order of business of the legislature in every regular, extra, special, or other session to reapportion the representation as herein provided.

Section 8. Reapportionment sessions—alternative methods.—In the event the legislature shall fail to reapportion the representation in the legislature at any regular session when so required, the governor shall within thirty days after adjournment thereof call the legislature into extraordinary session to perform its duty in that behalf. Such session shall transact no other business, shall not recess for more than twenty-four hours, and shall complete reapportionment before adjournment; provided, the governor may, after the lapse of sixty days from the date such session is convened, by proclamation recess to a future date or adjourn the legislature sine die.

Section 9. Organization—officers.—Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections, and returns of its members, and upon convening each regular session shall choose its officers, including a permanent presiding officer selected from its membership, who shall be designated in the senate as President of the Senate, and in the house as Speaker of the House of Representatives. The senate shall designate a Secretary, to serve at its pleasure, and the house of representatives shall designate a Chief Clerk, to serve at its pleasure.

Section 10. Procedure—adjournment—open doors—journal—discipline—compelling attendance.—Except as provided herein, each house shall determine its rules of procedure.

Neither house may adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the other. The senate may close its doors to the public while sitting in executive session. Other sessions of each house shall be public. Each house shall keep and publish a journal of its proceedings, in which the yeas and nays of each member on any question shall be entered upon request of five members present. Each house may punish a member for contempt and by vote of two thirds of the members present may expel him. A majority of the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum, but less than a quorum may adjourn from day to day, compel attendance of absent members, and prescribe penalties for failure to attend.

Section 11. Attendance of witnesses—production of evidence—contempt and penalties.—Each house may when in session compel attendance of witnesses and production of public and private documents and other evidence upon any matter under investigation before it or any of its committees, and may punish by fine not exceeding $1,000 or imprisonment not exceeding ninety days any person not a member who has been guilty of disorderly or contemptuous conduct in its presence or has refused to obey its lawful summons or to answer lawful questions. For making investigations between sessions the legislature may confer such powers upon any committee of legislators by a law limited to the committee designated, to a stated period of operation, and to the matters specifically assigned. The manner of exercising such powers, with appropriate right of appeal, shall be prescribed by law.

Section 12. Form of bill—one subject—title—amendment—enacting clause.—Every law shall embrace but one subject and matter properly connected therewith, which subject shall be briefly expressed in the title. No law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title only. Laws to revise or amend shall set out in full the revised act or amended section, subsection, or paragraph of a subsection. The enacting clause of every law shall read: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida."

Section 13. Passage of bills.—Any bill may originate in either house and after passage in one may be amended in the other. In each house it shall be read on three separate days unless two thirds of the members present when the bill is pending waive this rule. Its first reading shall be by title only unless one third of the members present order it read in full. Its second reading shall be in full unless two thirds of the members present order it read by title only. Its third reading shall be in full unless it is a general revision of the entire laws, in which instance two thirds of the members present may order it read by title only. In each house passage of a bill shall require a majority vote of the members present. It shall be signed by the presiding officers of the respective houses and by the secretary of the senate and the chief clerk of the house of representatives. On final passage the vote in each house shall be taken by yeas and nays and entered on its journal.

Section 14. Executive approval—veto—item veto of appropriations—repassage.—Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor for his approval and shall become a law if he approves and signs it, or fails to do so or to veto it within seven days after presentation; provided, if during such period the legislature finally adjourns or takes a recess of more than thirty days he shall have twenty days from the date of adjournment or recess to act on the bill. In all cases except general appropriation bills, the veto shall extend to the entire bill. The governor may veto specific items of a general appropriation bill.

When a bill or any item of a general appropriation bill has been vetoed by the governor, he shall transmit his signed objections thereto to the house in which the bill originated. If that house is not in session he shall file them with the secretary of state, who shall lay them before that house at its next session, and they shall be entered on its journal.

If both houses shall reenact the bill or reinstate a vetoed item of an appropriation bill by two-thirds vote of the members present, the yeas and nays shall be entered on the respective journals, and the bill shall become law or the item reinstated, the veto notwithstanding.

Section 15. Effective date of laws.—No law shall take effect until sixty days from the final adjournment of the session of the legislature in which enacted, unless otherwise provided therein.

The classification by general law of counties, municipalities, and special districts according to population shall, as to those falling within a different class by reason of change in population, become operative thirty days after the adjournment of the regular session of the legislature next convening after certification of the census establishing such change.

Section 16. Distribution of laws—judicial decisions.—The legislature shall provide for prompt distribution to the public of copies of all laws. Laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Section 17. Special and local laws—requisites for enactment.—No special law or local law shall be passed unless notice of intention to seek enactment thereof has been published, in the manner provided by law, in each county in the area to be affected thereby, not less than thirty days or more than ninety days prior to introduction in the legislature. Proof of publication shall be recited on the journal of each house and evidence of publication preserved with the bill in the office of the secretary of state. Such notice shall not be necessary when the law is conditioned to become effective only upon approval by vote of the electors.

Section 18.
