Help us to respond to the call of our country according to our several powers; put far from us selfish indifference to the needs of others; and give us grace to fulfil our daily duties with sober diligence. Senate Joint Resolution No. 1011:

A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA RELATING TO THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT OF THE GOVERNMENT

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF FLORIDA:

That the following proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State of Florida relating to the Legislative Department of the Government is hereby agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of this State for ratification or rejection at the next general election to be held in November of 1958, that is to say:

ARTICLE III
LEGISLATIVE

Section 1. Composition.—The legislative power of the state shall be vested in a Legislature of the State of Florida, consisting of a Senate and a House of Representatives, whose sessions shall be held at the seat of government.

Section 2. (a) Regular sessions—extensions.—A regular legislative session shall be convened on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in April of each odd-numbered year for not more than sixty consecutive days; provided, by three-fifths vote of the members of each house it may be extended for not more than thirty additional calendar days, not necessarily consecutive but not extending beyond the following August, during which no new legislation may be introduced without the consent of two thirds of the members of the house in which it originates.

(b) Extra sessions.—When within sixty days from filing of the first certificate one fifth of the members of each house of the legislature shall have filed with the secretary of state their certificates that an extra session of the legislature is required for the common good, he shall within seven days thereafter give notice thereof to all legislators by registered mail and poll them on the question: "Shall such session be held?" If three fifths of the members of each house shall within fifteen days after such mailing file with him their affirmative votes thereon, he shall call such session to convene on a date fixed by him not less than fourteen or more than twenty-one days after such mailing. Such session shall not exceed thirty consecutive days.

(c) Special sessions.—The governor may by proclamation stating the purpose convene the legislature in special session not to exceed twenty consecutive days, during which only such legislative business may be transacted as is within the purview of the proclamation or of a communication from the governor, or is consented to by two-thirds vote of each house.

(d) Reapportionment sessions.—The legislature shall meet in session as provided herein for reapportionment of representation in the senate and house of representatives.

(e) Organization—expenses.—The legislature may in any session provide for its organization, expenses, and other incidental matters, including per diem of members.

(f) Adjournment by governor.—If the two houses cannot agree upon a time for adjournment, the governor may adjourn the legislature sine die or to any date within the period authorized for such session.

Section 3. (a) First legislature.—The first legislature shall be composed of the members elected pursuant to the Constitution of 1885, whose terms of office shall expire as therein provided.

(b) Terms of legislators—vacancies.—Each representative shall be elected for a term of two years and each senator for a term of four years at a general election by the electors of the area he represents. He shall take office upon election. Vacancies shall be filled by special election as provided by law.

(c) Senatorial districts.—Each senator shall represent a senatorial district designated by number in consecutive order. In the first legislature senators representing odd-numbered districts shall be those elected in 1956 and senators representing even-numbered districts shall be those elected in 1958. Their respective successors shall be elected at the general election held in the year in which their respective terms expire.

(d) Qualifications of legislators.—Each legislator shall be at least twenty-one years of age. He shall be an elector and resident of the area from which elected. If he fails to maintain such resident during his term of office his seat shall be vacated.

(e) Eligibility for other office.—Except as provided herein, no legislator shall during the term for which elected be appointed to any state civil office created during such term.

(f) Compensation—allowances.—Each legislator shall receive compensation, payable monthly, not exceeding $2,400 per annum until November 1962 and thereafter as provided by law. When transacting legislative business other than during regular or special sessions he shall receive travel and per diem allowances as may be fixed by the legislature.

Section 4. Reapportionment of senate.—The state shall be divided into 42 senatorial districts. At the regular session in 1959, and at the regular session in 1963 and decennially thereafter, the legislature shall by concurrent resolution reapportion the representation in the senate and revise the senatorial districts to the end that there may be fair and equitable representation based upon population, geographic area and community of interests, using the most recent federal census as the basis for the population phase of such reapportionment; provided:

(a) There shall be not more than one senator for each senatorial district.

(b) Two or more counties forming a senatorial district shall not be entirely separated by territory of another district.

(c) No county shall be divided in creating a district.

Section 5. Reapportionment of house of representatives.—At the same sessions as for the senate, the legislature shall apportion the representation in the house of representatives, and shall allow three (3) representatives to each of the five most populous counties, and two (2) representatives to each of the next eighteen more populous counties, and one representative to each of the remaining counties of the State at the time of such apportionment. Should the legislature fail to apportion the representation in the house of representatives, at any regular session of the legislature at any of the times herein designated, it shall be the duty of the legislature or legislatures succeeding such regular session of the legislature, either in special or regular session, to apportion the representation in the house of representatives as herein provided. The preceding regular federal census shall control in making any such reapportionment. In the event the legislature shall fail to reapportion the representation as required by this amendment, the governor shall (within thirty days after the adjournment of the regular session), call the legislature together in extraordinary session to consider the question of reapportionment and such extraordinary session of the legislature is hereby mandatorily required to reapportion the representation as required by this amendment before its adjournment (and such extraordinary session so called for reapportionment shall not be limited to expire at the end of twenty days or at all, until reapportionment is effected, and shall consider no business other than such reapportionment).

Section 6. Representation of newly created county.—A newly created county shall have one representative in the house of representatives until the succeeding reapportionment, and until that time shall be part of such senatorial district as the legislature shall designate.

Section 7. Continuing duty to reapportion.—It shall be the continuing duty and the preferential order of business of the legislature in every regular, extra, special, or other session to reapportion the representation as herein provided.

Section 8. Reapportionment sessions—alternative methods.—In the event the legislature shall fail to reapportion the representation in the legislature at any regular session when so required, the governor shall within thirty days after adjournment thereof call the legislature into extraordinary session to perform its duty in that behalf. Such session shall transact no other business, shall not recess for more than twenty-four hours, and shall complete reapportionment before adjournment; provided, the governor may, after the lapse of sixty days from the date such session is convened, by proclamation recess to a future date or adjourn the legislature sine die.

Section 9. Organization—officers.—Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections, and returns of its members, and upon convening each regular session shall choose its officers, including a permanent presiding officer selected from its membership, who shall be designated in the senate as President of the Senate, and in the house as Speaker of the House of Representatives. The senate shall designate a Secretary, to serve at its pleasure, and the house of representatives shall designate a Chief Clerk, to serve at its pleasure.

Section 10. Procedure—adjournment—open doors journal—discipline—compelling attendance.—Except as provided herein, each house shall determine its rules of procedure. Neither house may adjourn for more than three days without the consent of the other. The senate may close its doors to the public while sitting in executive session. Other sessions of each house shall be public. Each house shall keep and publish a journal of its proceedings, in which the yeas and nays of each member on any question shall be entered upon request of five members present. Each house may punish a member for contempt and by vote of two thirds of the members present may expel him. A majority of the members elected to each house shall constitute a quorum, but less than a quorum may adjourn from day to day, compel attendance of absent members, and prescribe penalties for failure to attend.

Section 11. Attendance of witnesses—production of evidence—contempt and penalties.—Each house may when in session compel attendance of witnesses and production of public and private documents and other evidence upon any matter under investigation before it or any of its committees, and may punish by fine not exceeding $1,000 or imprisonment not exceeding ninety days any person not a member who has been guilty of disorderly or contemptuous conduct in its presence or has refused to obey its lawful summons or to answer lawful questions. For making investigations between sessions the legislature may confer such powers upon any committee of legislators by a law limited to the committee designated, to a stated period of operation, and to the matters specifically assigned. The manner of exercising such powers, with appropriate right of appeal, shall be prescribed by law.

Section 12. Form of bill—one subject—title—amendment—enacting clause.—Every law shall embrace but one subject and matter properly connected therewith, which subject shall be briefly expressed in the title. No law shall be revised or amended by reference to its title only. Laws to revise or amend shall set out in full the revised act or amended section, subsection, or paragraph of a subsection. The enacting clause of every law shall read: "Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Florida."

Section 13. Passage of bills.—Any bill may originate in either house and after passage in one may be amended in the other. In each house it shall be read on three separate days unless two thirds of the members present when the bill is pending waive this rule. Its first reading shall be by title only unless one third of the members present order it read in full. Its second reading shall be in full unless two thirds of the members present order it read by title only. Its third reading shall be in full unless it is a general revision of the entire laws, in which instance two thirds of the members present may order it read by title only. In each house passage of a bill shall require a majority vote of the members present. It shall be signed by the presiding officers of the respective houses and by the secretary of the senate and the chief clerk of the house of representatives. On final passage the vote in each house shall be taken by yeas and nays and entered on its journal.

Section 14. Executive approval—veto—item veto of appropriations—repassage.—Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor for his approval and shall become a law if he approves and signs it, or fails to do so or to veto it within seven days after presentation; provided, if during such period the legislature finally adjourns or takes a recess of more than thirty days he shall have twenty days from the date of adjournment or recess to act on the bill. In all cases except general appropriation bills, the veto shall extend to the entire bill. The governor may veto specific items of a general appropriation bill.

When a bill or any item of a general appropriation bill has been vetoed by the governor, he shall transmit his signed objections thereto to the house in which the bill originated. If that house is not in session he shall file them with the secretary of state, who shall lay them before that house at its next session, and they shall be entered on its journal.

If both houses shall reenact the bill or reinstate a vetoed item of an appropriation bill by two-thirds vote of the members present, the yeas and nays shall be entered on the respective journals, and the bill shall become law or the item reinstated, the veto notwithstanding.

Section 15. Effective date of laws.—No law shall take effect until sixty days from the final adjournment of the session of the legislature in which enacted, unless otherwise provided therein.

The classification by general law of counties, municipalities, and special districts according to population shall, as to those falling within a different class by reason of change in population, become operative thirty days after the adjournment of the regular session of the legislature next convening after certification of the census establishing such change.

Section 16. Distribution of laws—judicial decisions.—The legislature shall provide for prompt distribution to the public of copies of all laws. Laws and judicial decisions shall be free for publication by any person.

Section 17. Special and local laws—requisites for enactment.—No special law or local law shall be passed unless notice of intention to seek enactment thereof has been published, in the manner provided by law, in each county in the area to be affected thereby, not less than thirty days or more than ninety days prior to introduction in the legislature. Proof of publication shall be recited on the journal of each house and evidence of publication preserved with the bill in the office of the secretary of state. Such notice shall not be necessary when the law is conditioned to become effective only upon approval by vote of the electors.

Section 18. Impeachment — effect — filling office during trial.—The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment but a vote of two-thirds of all members present shall be required to impeach any officer; and all impeachments shall be tried by the senate. When sitting for that purpose the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation, and no persons shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the senate present. The senate may adjourn to a fixed date for the trial of any impeachment, and may sit for the purpose of such trial whether the house of representatives be in session or not, but the time fixed for such trial shall not be more than six months from the time articles of impeachment shall be preferred by the house of representatives. The chief justice shall preside at all trials by impeachment except in the trial of the chief justice, when the governor shall preside. The governor, administrative officers of the executive department, justices of the Supreme Court, and judges of the district court of appeal and the circuit court shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor in office, but judgment in such cases shall extend only to removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust or profit under the state; but the party convicted or acquitted shall nevertheless be liable to indictment trial and punishment according to law.

Immediately upon impeachment by the house of representatives, the officer shall be disqualified from performing any duties until acquitted by the senate, and the governor shall appoint an incumbent to fill such office pending the trial. Upon impeachment of the governor, the officer next in line of succession to the office of governor shall act as governor pending the trial.

Section 19. Appropriation bills — withdrawal of public funds.—Laws making appropriations for salaries of public officers and other current expenses of the state shall contain provisions on no other subject. No money shall be drawn from the treasury unless appropriated by law.

Section 20. Officers not provided for herein.—The legislature shall provide for election by the people or appointment by the governor of all state and county officers in cases in which the method of section is not provided herein.

Section 21. Civil service systems and boards.—The legislature may create or abolish civil service systems and boards for state, county, district, or municipal employees, and also for such officers thereof as are not elected or appointed by the governor, and may authorize such boards to prescribe the qualifications, methods of selection, and tenure of such employees and officers.

Section 22. Mechanics liens.—The legislature shall provide for giving to mechanics and other laborers an adequate lien on the subject matter of their labor.

Section 23. Alcoholic beverages—legislative authority.—In those counties in which the sale of intoxicating beverages is not prohibited as herein provided, the legislature shall regulate the manufacture and sale thereof by private persons or provide for the manufacture or sale thereof by the state or a state agency.

Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1026:

A RESOLUTION RELATING TO SALT WATER FISHERIES, THEIR IMPORTANCE TO FLORIDA, AND MAKING PROVISIONS FOR CARRYING OUT THE PURPOSES OF THIS RESOLUTION.

WHEREAS, The legislature of Florida is interested in every vital segment of the economy of the State of Florida, and

WHEREAS, All the statistics available to the legislature from surveys, made by the state board of conservation, state and federal agencies and otherwise, show conclusively that the fishing industry constitutes one of the three largest industries of the State of Florida; meaning more than five hundred million dollars ($500,000,000) annually to the state's general economy, and is surpassed in value only by tourism and agriculture, and

WHEREAS, The fishing industry of Florida furnishes employment to thousands of our citizens, not only to those engaged in the annual production of seafood, but employment and financial assistance to allied interest in fields such as shipbuilders, fishermen's supply places of business, banks that finance operations and the purchase of fishing boats and equipment, bait dealers, charter boats, fish markets, insurance agents in the marine insurance field, canneries and processors of fishery products, wholesale and retail dealers in fishery products, seafood restaurants, and countless other businesses to which the fishing industry reaches and is linked and involved in one fashion or another, all of which vitally effects the economy of Florida and the economic welfare of its citizens, and

WHEREAS, The fisheries is one of the best recreational attractions we have to offer to our millions of tourists that visit Florida, as well as to our own citizens, and

WHEREAS, The major segment of the commercial fishing industry is the shrimp fishery, which has grown in the last nine years to become the largest single most valuable fishery resource in the United States.

WHEREAS, According to statistics recently released by the United States Department of Interior to the United States Congress, the shrimp industry of the United States has risen spectacularly from a modest beginning to overshadow on an annual scale the tuna industry by thirty million dollars ($30,000,000), the salmon industry by thirty nine million dollars ($39,000,000) and the oyster industry by forty eight million dollars ($48,000,000), all of which means, according to the Department of Interior, that the shrimp industry has increased fourfold during the last nine years, and

WHEREAS, In addition to the value of the shrimp and other parts of the fishing industry in our own territorial waters, hundreds of the citizens of Florida are engaged in fishing on the high seas of the Gulf of Mexico, Caribbean and South Atlantic, and have millions of dollars invested in boats and equipment to do such high seas fishing, and the citizens of Florida produce more shrimp from high seas fisheries on international waters than any other state, and

WHEREAS, The State of Florida annually licenses hundreds of fishing boats, there are licensed over eight hundred (800) large shrimp trawlers, most of which fish such high seas shrimp fisheries as those known as the Campeche, Tampico and Tortugas shrimp beds, and

WHEREAS, The very survival of our shrimp industry that fishes on the high seas is being disastrously affected by some foreign nations asserting or attempting to assert wide and unreasonable extensions of their territorial seas and sovereignty jurisdiction over fisheries on the high seas without relation to genuine conservation or the historic rights of our fishermen, and

WHEREAS, Our shrimp fishermen fishing on what the U. S. recognizes as the high seas of the Gulf of Mexico have been harrassed, intimidated, threatened, arrested, seized, fired upon by naval officers and have suffered great financial loss due to such harrassment and seizure of their boats, equipment, cargo and the imposition of stiff fines and penalties, and

WHEREAS, While such losses, fear and persecution have been inflicted upon our shrimp fishermen in the Gulf of Mexico by the Mexican Navy it has been the continued hope of this legislature that the differences between the two governments would be resolved, and

WHEREAS, This legislature desires that the Florida state board of conservation continue to exercise every means at its disposal to assist and encourage where possible, the department of state and the United States Congress to take recognition of the serious and continuing threat to the very existence of our shrimp industry on the high seas of the Gulf of Mexico which is so vital to the economy of our state and so many of our citizens, and

WHEREAS, It is clearly apparent to this legislature that it is incumbent upon the state to continue to give every assistance to the industry to keep the federal authorities, and especially the department of state, alerted to our critical fishery problems which are being interfered with and threatened by foreign governments, and

WHEREAS, The state shall continue to diligently give every protection possible to the fishery interest of its own citizens, whether they fish in the state's territorial waters or on the high seas, that are supposed to be free to all mankind, as it is apparent that interest will lag at the national level, and attention there will be given to other matters and our shrimp industry on the high seas of the gulf will face ultimate annihilation, and

WHEREAS, It appears imperative that the state board of conservation and its representatives shall continue to work very closely as much as is necessary and practicable with the necessary persons in the department of state, the department of interior, and the United States Congress, and the interstate compact commission, to see that proper action is taken to protect the high seas fisheries fished by the citizens of Florida, and

WHEREAS, Large sums of the state's funds have been expended to help many other valuable Florida industries such as the citrus industry, the livestock industry, when they were faced with emergency and unusual situations and conditions such as now face the shrimp industry and the Florida fishing industry in general, and

WHEREAS, It is the opinion of this legislature that the fishing industry has long been neglected, compared to the assistance the state has given other industries, and although fishing is one of the oldest industries and has furnished a livelihood to hundreds of thousands of our citizens throughout the long history of our state, and

WHEREAS, It appears that it is necessary and imperative that the Legislature should declare a more comprehensive State policy with respect to our salt water fisheries in order to aid, assist, develop, protect and strengthen the fisheries segment of our State's economy,

NOW THEREFORE,

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE SENATE, THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES CONCURRING:

Section 1. Declaration of Policy

The Legislature hereby declares that the salt water fishery resources make a material contribution to the food supply, health, recreation, financial and well being of the citizens of the State of Florida. The fisheries are a living, renewable form of State wealth, capable of being maintained and greatly increased with proper attention, but equally capable of destruction if neglected. The fisheries have occupied an important place in the economy of our State since its colonial beginnings. They give employment, directly or indirectly, to a substantial and ever increasing number of our citizens. They attract all segments of the citizenry to outdoors, healthful, stimulating recreation in every part of the State. They furnish a large quantity of protein food, so essential and necessary to health of our people. Their by-products have a wide variety of essential uses in the arts, industry and agriculture. They strengthen the defense of the United States through the provision of a trained seafaring citizenry and action-ready fleets of seaworthy vessels, and during the last war many of our own Florida fishing boats joined the fishing fleets of the other U. S. coastal fishing states to lend assistance to our United States Navy in the planning and carrying out of the coastal defense program for the protection of the United States. Properly developed and protected, the fisheries are capable of steadily increasing these valuable contributions to the life, health, happiness and wealth of the citizens of Florida. The Legislature further declares that it is its intent that the conservation laws of Florida shall continue to be administered with due regard to the inherent right of every citizen of Florida to engage in fishing for his own pleasure, enjoyment, and betterment and with the intent of stimulating the development of a stronger, with a more prosperous, efficient and thriving fishery and fish processing industry. It is the intent of the Legislature that the State shall continue to do everything necessary to obtain the use and the most benefit possible to the State from the Interstate Fishery Compact Commissions of which Florida is a member, and from which substantial benefits have been derived. The Legislature of Florida further declares that it is its intent that the State through its respective conservation agencies and State official shall continue to cooperate and assist to the fullest practicable extent with federal agencies in securing protection and assistance for our citizens fishing on the high seas and that special attention shall be directed to the high seas shrimp fishery, which constitutes the largest, single fishery and is of the greatest economic value to our citizens and our state.

Section 2. The State Board of Conservation may request and secure the advice and assistance of any department or agency of the State government to carry out the provisions of this resolution, and any such department or agency which furnishes advice or assistance to the board may expend its own funds, for such purposes, with or without reimbursement from the board as may be agreed upon between the board and the department or agency.

Section 3. The board shall consult periodically with the various governmental agencies and other organizations which have to do with or relate to any phase of fisheries and problems that may arise in connection with the fishing rights and interests of the people of Florida.

Section 4. The State Board of Conservation shall continue to keep itself advised as much as possible of negotiations at any level of government, which effect the rights and interests of our fishermen on the high seas, and especially on the Gulf of Mexico, and said board shall provide as much as practicable representation at meetings and conferences relating to a fishery, that may be placed in jeopardy, destroyed or seriously affected and thereby result in damage to the interest and rights of the fishermen of Florida. The State shall cooperate in every manner possible with the United States Department of State and shall use every legal means at its disposal to see that the shrimp industry of this State is provided with adequate and proper representation on any U. S. delegation to conferences and meetings relating to matters that effect the shrimp industry of the State of Florida.

Section 5. If for the purposes of carrying out the provisions of this resolution, it should be determined that the appropriations made to the State Board of Conservation or to any State agency required to act under this resolution or Chapter 370, Florida Statutes, relating to salt water fisheries, is insufficient to pay the necessary cost of proper administration of the intent and purposes of this resolution, the Budget Commission is hereby authorized, in its discretion, to provide funds from any contingency funds or other available sources.

Section 6. The state board of conservation may make such rules and regulations as it may deem necessary to carry out the provisions of this resolution.

Section 7. A copy of this resolution shall be served upon each member of the state board of conservation and the director thereof, the United States department of state, department of interior and each member of the Florida congressional delegation.

Which was read the first time in full.

Senator Pope moved that the rules be waived and Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1026 be read the second time in full and put upon its adoption.

Which was agreed to by a two-thirds vote.

And Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1026 was read the second time in full.

The question was put on the adoption of the Concurrent Resolution.

Which was agreed to and Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 1026 was adopted and the action of the Senate was ordered certified to the House of Representatives.
