Prayer by the Rev. Arthur S. Hawley, Pastor, Euclid United Methodist Church, St. Petersburg:

Our eternal and ever present father, we beseech you to grant to this body a sacred moment of silence before the duties of this day begin.

Open their hearts to your spirit as we call on you to give each of them, in these very troubled times, wisdom in their decisions, compassion and love in their attitudes and mercy and concern in their judgements.

Let them remember that when this prayer is completed, their dependence on you should continue through this session and with open hearts, your counsel will be available to each of them throughout the day.

With thee we can accomplish all things if only we open our hearts to you. From this interlude may there flow such a sweetness of disposition that all may know that you are in this place, and evening shall bring your welcome benediction, "Well done, good and faithful servant."

In the name of the one God, his son Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit we pray. Amen.

—and requests the concurrence of the Senate.

Allen Morris, Clerk

House Amendment 1—On pages 1-4, strike everything after the enacting clause and insert:

Section 1. Subsections (3) and (6) of section 501.012, Florida Statutes, are amended and subsections (8), (9), and (10) are added to said section to read:

501.012 Contracts for health studio services.—

(3) Every contract for the sale of health studio services shall be in writing and shall contain the following, contractual provisions to the contrary notwithstanding:

(a) Provision for the penalty-free cancellation of the contract within 3 days, exclusive of holidays and weekends, of its making, upon the mailing or delivery of written notice to the health studio, and refund upon such notice of all moneys paid under the contract, except that the health studio may retain an amount computed by dividing the number of complete days in the contract's term or, if appropriate, the number of occasions health studio services are to be rendered, into the total contract price and multiplying the result by the number of complete days that have passed since the contract's making or, if appropriate, by the number of occasions that health studio services have been rendered.

(b) Provision for the cancellation of the contract if the health studio goes out of business and fails to provide facilities within 5 miles or moves its facilities more than 5 miles from the location designated in such contract, upon written notice by the buyer, with refund upon such notice of funds paid or accepted in payment of the contract in an amount computed by dividing the contract price by the number of weeks of the contract's term and multiplying the result by the number of weeks remaining in the contract's term.

(c) Provision for the cancellation of the contract if the buyer dies or becomes totally and permanently disabled during the membership term following the date of such contract, with refund of funds paid or accepted in payment of the contract in an amount computed by dividing the contract price by the number of weeks of the contract's term and multiplying the result by the number of weeks remaining in the contract's term. The contract may require a buyer or the buyer's estate seeking relief under this subsection to provide reasonable proof of total and permanent disability or death.

(d) Provision that the contract shall not be for a period in excess of 36 months, but may be renewable at the end of each 36-month period of time.

(6)(a) Every health studio which sells contracts for health studio services to be rendered at a planned health studio or a health studio under construction shall, during any period prior to opening and for a period of 3 years after commencement of business:

(a) Maintain a bond issued by a surety company admitted to do business in the state. The principal sum of the bond shall be $25,000 and the bond, where required, shall be obtained before an occupational license may issue under chapter 205 §10,000.

(b) The bond required by paragraph (a) shall be in favor of the state for the benefit of any person injured as a result of a violation of this section. The aggregate liability of the surety to all persons for all breaches of the conditions of the bonds provided herein shall in no event exceed the amount of the bond.

(b)(e) In lieu of maintaining the bond required in paragraph (a), the health studio may furnish to the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services a certified copy of its financial statement, certified by its president or principal to be true and correct, letter of credit from any foreign or domestic bank, guaranty, or any other documentation establishing sufficient financial responsibility in at least the amount of the bond required under paragraph (a) as will enable the health studio to satisfy the possible claims against the bond allowed by paragraph (a) (b). In the event the health studio is controlled by, under common control with, or controls other corporations, and such other corporations agree in writing to satisfy the claims against a bond allowed by paragraph (a) (b), then the financial responsibility of such other corporations shall be considered in determining compliance of this section. The department shall decide whether the information furnished in lieu of bond by the health studio is in compliance with the requirements of this subsection.

(c) During the period of maintenance of the bond or the furnishing of documentation establishing sufficient financial responsibility for a waiver of the bond, the health studio annually shall file, as appropriate, with the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services evidence that the bond remains in force or a copy of its financial statements, certified by its president or principal to be true and correct.

(8) Any health studio violating the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

(9) The Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services may institute proceedings in the appropriate circuit court for injunctive relief to enforce this act.

(10) The amendments to this section by this act shall not apply to a health studio which has operated at the same location under the same ownership since July 1, 1977.

Section 2. This act shall take effect July 1, 1980.

House Amendment 2—On page 1 in title, lines 1-22, strike all of said lines and insert: A bill to be entitled An act relating to health studio services; amending s. 501.012(3) and (6), Florida Statutes, and adding subsections thereto, requiring contracts for health studio services to be in writing; requiring the maintenance of a $25,000 bond for a described period; providing that the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services shall make certain determinations with respect to alternatives to the bond requirement; providing a penalty; providing for injunctive relief; providing for the applicability of the act; providing an effective date.

On motion by Senator Dunn, the following remarks were printed in the Journal:

Senator Johnston: Senators, I had the privilege, along with Senator Barron, Senator Chamberlin, Senator MacKay and others, to introduce the resolution for the Silverhaired Legislature. All of us are very familiar with the hard work they do and we have several of them here today I would like to introduce and ask that they go to the rostrum to receive the resolution. From Jacksonville, we have Needum Smith, who is the Senate President; Jack Carroll, past president of the Florida Senate Silverhaired Legislature; Tomi Crofut, whom we all know because she breaks our arm all the time. Tomi is the past Speaker of the House and is from Crestview. Dan Bedell is from Fort Myers. He was the one person in Lee county who voted for me in the last election, the only one. Earl Armstrong from Tallahassee, Jim Hay, also from Tallahassee, is not present today and finally, Jim Doyle who is the HRS Aging Program Director. ARTICLE VII

FINANCE AND TAXATION

SECTION 6. Homestead exemptions.—

(a) Every person who has the legal or equitable title to real estate and maintains thereon the permanent residence of the owner, or another legally or naturally dependent upon the owner, shall be exempt from taxation thereon, except assessments for special benefits, up to the assessed valuation of five thousand dollars, upon establishment of right thereto in the manner prescribed by law. The real estate may be held by legal or equitable title, by the entireties, jointly, in common, as a condominium, or indirectly by stock ownership or membership representing the owner's or member's proprietary interest in a corporation owning a fee or a leasehold initially in excess of ninety-eight years.

(b) Not more than one exemption shall be allowed any individual or family unit or with respect to any residential unit. No exemption shall exceed the value of the real estate assessable to the owner or, in case of ownership through stock or membership in a corporation, the value of the proportion which his interest in the corporation bears to the assessed value of the property.

(c) By general law and subject to conditions specified therein, the exemption shall be increased to a total of twenty-five thousand dollars of the assessed value of the real estate for each school district levy. By general law and subject to conditions specified therein, the exemption for all other levies may be increased up to an amount not exceeding ten thousand dollars of the assessed value of the real estate if the owner has attained age sixty-five or is totally and permanently disabled and if the owner is not entitled to the exemption provided in subsection (d).

(d) By general law and subject to conditions specified therein, the exemption shall be increased to a total of twenty thousand dollars of the assessed value of real estate for each levy other than those of school districts; provided, such increase shall not apply with respect to any assessment roll until such roll is first determined to be in compliance with the provisions of section 4 by a state agency designated by general law. This subsection shall stand repealed on the effective date of any amendment to section 4 which provides for the assessment of homestead property at a specified percentage of its just value.

(e)(d) By general law and subject to conditions specified therein, the Legislature may provide to renters, who are permanent residents, ad valorem tax relief on all ad valorem tax school district levies. Such ad valorem tax relief shall be in the form and amount established by general law.

Senator Dunn moved the following amendment which failed:

Amendment 1—On page 1, line 20, strike everything after the resolving clause and insert: That the following amendment to Section 1 of Article VII of the State Constitution is hereby agreed to and shall be submitted to the electors of this state for approval or rejection at the general election to be held in November 1980, and that, if approved at such election, such amendment shall take effect January 1, 1981 and apply to fiscal periods of the state commencing on or after July 1, 1981:

ARTICLE VII

FINANCE AND TAXATION

SECTION 1. Taxation; appropriations; state expenses.—

(a) No tax shall be levied except in pursuance of law. No state ad valorem taxes shall be levied upon real estate or tangible personal property. All other forms of taxation shall be preempted to the state except as provided by general law.

(b) Motor vehicles, boats, airplanes, trailers, trailer coaches and mobile homes, as defined by law, shall be subject to a license tax for their operation in the amounts and for the purposes prescribed by law, but shall not be subject to ad valorem taxes.

(c) No money shall be drawn from the treasury except in pursuance of appropriation made by law.

(d) Provision shall be made by law for raising sufficient revenue to defray the expenses of the state for each fiscal period.

(e) The rate of growth in state expenditures derived from state tax sources as determined by law shall not exceed the estimated rate of growth in the state economy as determined pursuant to general law. Revenue from state tax sources in excess of the amount necessary to fund state expenditures within such limit shall be deposited in a Budget Stabilization Fund which shall be maintained in an amount determined pursuant to general law; except that the portion of such excess accruing to a trust fund shall be deposited in the trust fund. Any revenue in the Budget Stabilization Fund in excess of the amount allowed to be maintained in the fund shall be appropriated for tax relief or nonrecurring expenditures. For any fiscal year in which revenue from state tax sources is not sufficient or is estimated to be not sufficient to meet state expenditures within such limits, funds sufficient to meet state expenditures within such limits may be appropriated from the Budget Stabilization Fund, and the balance of the fund which is not needed for such purpose and which is in excess of the minimum balance required by general law to be maintained in the fund may be appropriated for economic countercyclical purposes, subject to conditions prescribed by general law.

(f) The rate of growth in state expenditures as determined pursuant to subsection (e) may be exceeded for any fiscal year:

(1) By an appropriation from the Budget Stabilization Fund, for tax relief or nonrecurring expenditures, of revenue in excess of the amount allowed to be maintained in the fund;

(2) By an appropriation from the Budget Stabilization Fund for economic countercyclical purposes;

(3) By an appropriation made by law enacted by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the membership of each house of the legislature; or

(4) By an appropriation made for a new or improved program or activity and made by law containing no other appropriation.

(g) Schedule.—On the effective date of this amendment and until changed by law:

(1) This amendment including this schedule may be cited as the "Florida Budget Stabilization and Expenditure Limit Amendment".

(2) "The rate of growth in the state economy" means the sum of the five-year average rate of change of each of the following factors: consumer price index, Florida population, and Florida real per capita income. The five-year period used to calculate the rate of growth in the economy for the first year of any biennium shall be the first year of such biennium and the four preceding fiscal years and for the second year of any biennium, the second year of such biennium and the four preceding fiscal years. Estimates shall be used for those years for which actual figures are not available. For the purposes of this paragraph:

a. "Florida population" means the fiscal year average population of the state according to the annual determination made and published by the Executive Office of the Governor.

b. "Consumer price index" means the fiscal year average of the Consumer Price Index as determined by the United States Department of Labor.

c. "Florida real per capita income" means the personal income of Florida residents during a fiscal year, as determined by the United States Department of Commerce, divided by Florida population and adjusted for any increase in the consumer price index.

(3) "Revenue from state tax sources" means:

a. Revenue from all state taxes except the unemployment compensation tax, workers' compensation tax, workers' compensation special disability tax, the citrus tax, the gross receipts tax, the second gas tax, the first proceeds of the revenue derived from the licensing of motor vehicles, and revenue derived from license fees for taking wild animal life and freshwater aquatic life;

b. Revenue from license fees and all other fees, the amount of which is not directly related to the services provided;

c. Revenue from service charges remitted to the General Revenue Fund; and

d. Revenue accruing from the investment of state funds; except revenue accruing from the investment of state retirement funds or from the investment of revenue from the unemployment compensation tax, workers' compensation tax, workers' compensation special disability tax, the citrus tax, the gross receipts tax, the second gas tax, the first proceeds of the motor vehicle license tax, or license fees for taking wild animal life and freshwater aquatic life.

(4) "State expenditures derived from state tax sources" means appropriations of revenue from state tax sources and appropriations from the Budget Stabilization Fund. For purposes of determining the expenditure limit for subsequent years pursuant to subsection (e), an appropriation made for tax relief or nonrecurring expenditures pursuant to subsection (e) shall not be considered a state expenditure derived from state tax sources and an appropriation made pursuant to paragraph (4) of subsection (f) shall not be considered a state expenditure derived from state tax sources in determining the expenditure limit for fiscal years commencing prior to the next general election held after the appropriation is made.

(5) There is hereby created the Budget Stabilization Fund, into which shall be deposited the revenue required by subsection (e). The moneys in the fund are hereby appropriated for transfer to fund, within the priorities set in the approved budget, state expenditures derived from state tax sources whenever the Administration Commission determines that revenue from state tax sources will not be sufficient to fund state expenditures derived from state tax sources and when the Administration Commission determines, after consultation with the legislative appropriation committees, that it would be more prudent to transfer such funds than to reduce agency operating budgets pursuant to s. 216.221, Florida Statutes. For any fiscal quarter, moneys in the fund as are not needed for such transfer and as are appropriated by the Legislature for economic countercyclical purposes may be released by the Administration Commission to be used for such purposes within the priorities set in the approved budget, but the amount released in any fiscal quarter may not exceed an amount equal to 0.05 times the product of the following two factors;

a. The number of percentage points by which the unemployment rate in the state for the previous fiscal quarter exceeds 6 percent; and

b. The amount by which the balance of the Budget Stabilization Fund exceeds 5 percent of the amount of state expenditures derived from state tax sources for the previous fiscal year.

When not required for such purposes, the moneys shall be used as a revolving fund for transfers as provided by s. 215.13, Florida Statutes, and when the Comptroller determines that the moneys are not otherwise needed, they may be temporarily invested as provided in ss. 215.44-215.53, Florida Statutes. For any fiscal year in which the balance of the fund is estimated to exceed an amount equal to 20 percent of the amount of state expenditures derived from state tax sources for the previous fiscal year, the excess shall be appropriated by the Legislature to provide tax relief or for nonrecurring expenditures.

(6) The Working Capital Fund of the state is abolished effective July 1, 1981, and the funds therein are transferred to the Budget Stabilization Fund.

(7) The Legislature may, by concurrent resolution, delete this subsection from this section when a law implementing the provisions of subsections (e) and (f) has taken effect.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the following statement be placed on the ballot:

No appropriation in excess of this limitation shall be made without a three-fifths vote of the membership of each house of the legislature.

(f) All revenue in any one year in excess of the amount necessary to fund the appropriations for that period, shall be deposited into a working capital fund which shall be maintained in an amount fixed by law. Any revenue in excess of the amount necessary to maintain the working capital fund shall be used for tax relief.

Amendment 1—On page 1, lines 14-29 and page 2 lines 1-6, strike all of said lines and insert: WHEREAS, the Legislature responded in 1975 to the dramatic rise in professional liability insurance premiums for Florida physicians and the resulting threat to the continuing availability of health care in the state by creating medical liability mediation panels, and

WHEREAS, the Florida Supreme Court determined in Aldana v. Holub, No. 53,612 (Feb. 28, 1980), that the jurisdictional period provided for in the medical mediation act had proven to be arbitrary and capricious in its operation which rendered the act unconstitutional, and

WHEREAS, data from the period in which the medical mediation panels were in operation indicates that they provided an efficient and effective mechanism for screening out nonmeritorious claims and for encouraging prompt settlement of those claims with merit, and

WHEREAS, data from that same period reveals a significant increase in both the frequency and severity of claims despite the very positive benefits derived from the mediation panel mechanism, and such data indicated a renewed crisis in the professional liability insurance market in the near future, and

WHEREAS, the effect of the invalidity of the mediation panel statute and the removal of its proven positive results will be a marked destabilization of the professional liability insurance marketplace and a dramatic increase in professional liability insurance premiums paid by health care providers in Florida, thus precipitating a present crisis in the professional liability insurance market, and

WHEREAS, the impact of significant market destabilization and premium increases on the citizens of Florida will be felt through significant increases in the costs of health care services and the imminent danger of a drastic curtailment in the availability of health care services, and

WHEREAS, an alternative to the mediation panels is needed which will similarly screen out claims lacking in merit and which will enhance the prompt settlement of meritorious claims, and

WHEREAS, the issue of liability is a primary issue to be resolved in medical malpractice litigation while the issue of damages is generally the primary issue in other areas of tort litigation and, furthermore, comparative negligence is rarely an issue in malpractice actions but is a prevalent issue in other areas of the law, and

WHEREAS, a requirement whereby the prevailing party in medical malpractice litigation is entitled to recover a reasonable attorney's fee is effective where liability is the primary issue and where comparative negligence is not at issue, but loses its effectiveness and fairness in other contexts, and

WHEREAS, individuals required to pay attorney's fees to the prevailing party will seriously evaluate the merits of a potential medical malpractice claim, NOW, THEREFORE,

Members; officers.—Each house shall be the sole judge of the qualifications, elections, and returns of its members, and shall biennially choose its officers, including a permanent presiding officer selected from its membership, who shall serve at its pleasure. The presiding officer shall be designated in the senate as President of the Senate, and in the house as Speaker of the House of Representatives. Upon a vacancy in the office of a presiding officer, the president pro tempore or the speaker pro tempore, as the case may be, shall automatically succeed to the office. The senate shall designate a Secretary to serve at its pleasure, and the house of representatives shall designate a Clerk to serve at its pleasure. The legislature shall appoint an auditor to serve at its pleasure who shall audit public records and perform related duties as prescribed by law or concurrent resolution.

SECTION 4. Quorum and procedure.—

(a) A majority of the membership of each house shall constitute a quorum, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day and compel the presence of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as it may prescribe. Each house shall determine its rules of procedure.

(b) Sessions of each house shall be public; except sessions of the senate when considering appointment to or removal from public office may be closed.

(c) Each house shall keep and publish a journal of its proceedings; and upon the request of five members present, the vote of each member voting on any question shall be entered on the journal.

(d) By a majority vote of its membership each house may discipline punish a member for contempt or disorderly conduct and, by a two-thirds vote of its membership, may expel a member. Upon the call of the presiding officer, either house shall convene for such purposes whether or not the other house is in session.

SECTION 7. Passage of bills.—Any bill may originate in either house and after passage in one may be amended in the other. It shall be read in each house on three separate days, unless this rule is waived by two-thirds vote; provided that publication in the journal shall satisfy the requirement of the first reading. On each reading, it shall be read by title only, unless one-third of the members present desire it read in full. On final passage, the vote of each member voting shall be entered on the journal. Passage of a bill shall require a majority vote in each house. Each bill and joint resolution passed in both houses shall be signed by the presiding officers of the respective houses and by the secretary of the senate and the clerk of the house of representatives during the session or as soon as practicable after its adjournment sine die.

SECTION 8. Executive approval and veto.—

(a) Every bill passed by the legislature shall be presented to the governor for his approval and shall become a law if he approves and signs it, or fails to veto it within seven consecutive days after presentation. If during that period or on the seventh day the legislature adjourns sine die or takes a recess of more than thirty days, he shall have thirty fifteen consecutive days from the date of presentation to act on the bill. In all cases except general appropriation bills, the veto shall extend to the entire bill. The governor may veto any specific appropriation in a general appropriation bill, but may not veto any qualification or restriction without also vetoing the appropriation to which it relates.

(b) When a bill or any specific appropriation of a general appropriation bill has been vetoed by the governor, he shall transmit his signed objections thereto to the house in which the bill originated if in session. If that house is not in session, he shall file them with the secretary of state, who shall lay them before that house at its next regular or special session, and they shall be entered on its journal.

(c) If each house shall, by a two-thirds vote, reenact the bill or reinstate the vetoed specific appropriation of a general appropriation bill, the vote of each member voting shall be entered on the respective journals, and the bill shall become law or the specific appropriation reinstated, the veto notwithstanding. A vetoed bill or vetoed specific appropriation shall not be considered later than the adjournment of the next regular session following the session in which such bill or appropriation was passed.

SECTION 11. Prohibited special laws.—

(a) There shall be no special law or general law of local application pertaining to:

- (20) regulation of occupations which are regulated by a state agency; or
- (21) any subject when prohibited by general law passed by a three-fifths vote of the membership of each house. Such law may be amended or repealed by like vote.

(b) In the enactment of general laws on other subjects, political subdivisions or other governmental entities may be classified only on a basis reasonably related to the subject of the law.

SECTION 15. Terms and qualifications of legislators.—

(a) SENATORS. Senators shall be elected for terms of four years, those from odd-numbered districts in the years the numbers of which are multiples of four and those from even-numbered districts in even-numbered years the numbers of which are not multiples of four; except, at the election next following a reapportionment, one-half of the same senators shall be elected for terms of two years when necessary to maintain staggered terms.
