The Governor's Address

Leaders, citizens of Florida, and friends. It is my understanding that the nettles which we provided to the chambers have been distributed. I can sense an atmosphere of preparation for restrained creativity. Applying this willingness to grasp the nettle and to apply our innovation in a way in the best interest of our people, we have worked together for many achievements for Florida. Our work shows progress in this 137th year of Florida's statehood. We are proud of the people who made this possible, the millions of people for whom Florida is home.

—Florida's newly-armed law enforcement system is beginning to arrest, prosecute, and confine criminals with more vigor, efficiency, and justice. We are proud of this accomplishment.

—The nation's recession has wrought hardship on many Floridians, but the state's economy this year—in contrast to the 1974 recession—is more productive than that of the nation as a whole and Floridians are proud of that achievement.

—Florida's public school system is progressing toward the excellence we seek, with students scoring higher on basic skills and scholastic aptitude tests. We are proud of our children and teachers.

—Even though federal action on immigration continues to be deficient, our call for enforcement of federal laws has brought the flow of refugees to a virtual halt. It is the federal government's obligation to relieve the people of this burden.

But much work remains before us.

This is a time of responsibility:

—A year in this decade which calls for reapportionment of legislative and congressional representation;

—A season in Florida's history when we cannot ignore enduring challenges—education, human services, transportation, conservation;

—An urgent moment when people are demanding limits on state government spending and communities safe from crime.

This year each of you will decide how the Senate, House and congressional seats will be apportioned during the next decade.

For too long, elderly, black and Hispanic voters have been denied political equality in this legislature.

Single-member districts, endorsed overwhelmingly in 21 public hearings throughout the state, will bring a greater measure of political equality.

Single-member districts, now enacted by legislatures in a majority of states, will best serve the voters of Florida.

I urge you to adopt single-member districts and provide Floridians with an even more responsive state government.

This time of responsibility also focuses our attention on the insurance code.

Florida took a leadership role in no-fault automobile insurance, workers' compensation reform, and other insurance measures in the 1970's. I urge that these gains not be eroded in 1982. And I pledge to work with you and the Insurance Commissioner to continue our progress.

A third issue before you which carries an immediate deadline is the Equal Rights Amendment.

I urge Florida to join the other 35 states that have ratified the Equal Rights Amendment.

This is perhaps the last opportunity for Floridians of our generation to affirm the great American tradition of equality.

We cannot ignore, however, the lasting responsibilities of state government: To improve education; to offer the most vital human services; to provide a safe and efficient transportation network; and to protect the environment we cherish.

Education

State government's support for education is our fundamental obligation to the future.

I ask you today to join with me and the State Board of Education in declaring that Florida's schools will rank in the top quarter of the states by 1985.

We are moving forward in that direction.

We have reduced the class size for our youngest students by almost twenty percent. When construction now underway is completed, we will have eliminated more than twenty double-session schools.

And last year, the University of Florida and Florida State University were among the top twenty universities nationally in numbers of National Merit Scholars.

We must do more to provide the best education for our students. This is why I am urging you to substantially increase funding for education, particularly for our youngest students, and to increase the state's share of public school costs.

With your concurrence, we will also enable local school boards to increase the average teacher's salary to nearly $19,000. This is a very small price to pay for the education of our children and clear evidence of our commitment to the future of this state.

Human Services

In the face of dramatic federal budget cuts for human services, Florida state government is having to learn what the people already know—government cannot afford to be all things to all people.

But we should do as much as we can to aid the elderly who brought us into the world and those infants who are physically impaired as they emerge into this world. It is also our responsibility to aid those who are especially vulnerable to the nation's economic trouble.

We have made progress in the past three years.

In 1979, you provided funds to begin our community care for the elderly program, bringing these services to more than 5,000 Floridians—who are often alone, with needs that would otherwise force them into nursing homes.

You have the opportunity this year to further expand this program to more than 20,000 Floridians in all 67 counties.

I also urge you to adopt our recommendations to increase services to those delicate newborns needing care in the state's nine perinatal centers.

And we must be sensitive to families with no means of support. For that reason, I ask you to increase the payment level and establish a new standard of need to aid families with dependent children.

Transportation

To continue our progress in transportation, I have recommended the state's first billion dollar transportation program for 1982-83.

We have made progress in completing much of the road work so important to motorists and the economic well-being of the state.

Since 1979, 110 miles of interstate have been opened, and more than $800 million has been appropriated for additional interstate construction.

In the past three years, the Department of Transportation has resurfaced 1,980 lane miles of highway—equal to resurfacing a four-lane highway from Tallahassee to Miami.

Conservation

Last year, you agreed to save our rivers.

Now we must save our coasts.

Florida's threatened beaches need our protection.

If time waits for no man, the developers of our beaches are even more impatient.

I urge you to approve $7 million from the Land Acquisition Trust Fund so that the state can finance a $200 million bond issue and begin to save our coasts.

To further protect our beaches, I also urge you to enact legislation which:

- Strengthens the coastal construction control line;
- Enhances coastal planning by local governments;
- Increases hazard prevention in storm-prone coastal areas; and
- Provides for selective eminent domain powers.

There are further demands that were created not by statute, nor need for reapportionment, nor congressional deadline. These are demands issued by the people.

Limiting State Government Spending

Throughout this state, citizens are cutting back on their personal expenditures because they have no choice.

Nor do we.

Government has no excuse but to wrench itself from the time-worn grooves of past practice.

1982 cannot be a year in which previous spending patterns are continued forward undisturbed.

This year must be a time for prudent retrenchment so that maximum commitments can be made to those services most important to our people.

The amended budget I have recommended reduces spending in almost one-half of the state agencies below 1981-82 levels.

This amended budget limits the number of full-time state employees to less than one percent of the state population.

The amended budget clearly states our priorities:

- Law enforcement increased by $112 million
- Education increased by $271 million
- Economic development increased by $7.8 million

- Transportation increased by $204 million
- Environmental protection increased by $14.8 million
- Community care for the elderly increased by $6.3 million

And this amended budget calls for no new taxes to finance state government.

Are we to say that one more year will not matter? That, somehow, it will be easier to set the priorities for spending 14 months from now? That the belt-tightening will be less unpleasant?

I tell you that if this year is the wrong year, then no year will be the right year.

Yes, Florida has sustained its economic vigor despite the national recession.

In the past three years, through our efforts, new and expanded industries have announced the creation of 102,000 more jobs for Floridians. In fact, in 1980, one out of every four net new jobs created in the nation was created in Florida. With your support we will continue our progress.

But, no, we are not immune from economic turmoil which buffets the nation.

We were forced in December to reduce government expenditures for this fiscal year. We have a warning that we have not seen the conclusion of the nation's recession:

—Revenue collections during the past three months are $29 million below the estimates we made in October.

I realize that the limits upon the budget will force all of us to make difficult decisions on state services.

But to do otherwise would be irresponsible.

We have a covenant of fiscal accountability with the taxpayers of this state.

It must not be breached.

Law Enforcement

Over the past several years there has emerged a dramatic increase in violent crimes throughout America.

In Florida we are acting to drive these robbers, muggers, and rapists from our streets.

But the people are demanding that we do more and that we do it now.

We have tangible proof of our progress, working together during the past three years:

—By increasing the number of Florida Department of Law Enforcement special agents over the past three years, you have increased its arrests in major cases by 73 percent.

—In 1981, prosecutors in Florida filed charges in 54 percent more criminal cases than in 1978 and increased filings in juvenile cases by 57 percent. This is three times as great as the increases in arrests over the same period.

—While you have increased the number of judges in the circuit courts by 12 percent, the number of criminal trials have increased by 21 percent—evidence that our courts are both better equipped to handle serious criminals and are doing so more efficiently.

Still, I am not satisfied with the progress that has been made. Nor are you. Nor are the people of Florida. None of us will be satisfied until the job is done.

So I ask you today to approve a $112 million increase to enable Florida to better catch criminals, charge them, try them and put them in jail where they belong.

If you agree, we will enable the 20 state attorneys in Florida—14 of whom have adopted policies to reduce plea bargaining—to increase their staffs by 350, so that these negotiated pleas will occur only when it is in the public interest.

We will be able to imprison securely an additional 1,920 inmates in the state's prison system. Florida must never be forced into releasing criminals from confinement because there is no space in which to imprison them.

Still, there is a compelling need for local law enforcement support—for more police in our neighborhoods.

The people are demanding that we help local governments combat crime.

The people are demanding that crimes be prevented, not just investigated.

The people are demanding that criminals be apprehended and confined, not just sought and detained.

The people are demanding more police.

Are we to say that those of us in this Capitol know better than local elected officials what services they should provide?

Are we in this Chamber prepared to deny local governments vital crime fighting services when local governments are ready, willing and able to get the job done?

It is law enforcement agencies in those cities and counties that are in the trenches in our battle against crime.

Yet citizens in almost one-half of the state's 84 largest jurisdictions have less police protection than they had in 1978.

Therefore, I am proposing today that you give local governments the option of a new source of revenue. For those communities in Florida experiencing major crime problems, this will be a tax against crime.

I propose that this new source of revenue be a one-half cent optional increase in the sales tax.

The revenues should be kept in the county of collection, shared equitably by the county and the municipalities.

A portion of this revenue should be available for county jail operations, freeing local money now spent on jails for more police on the streets.

This new revenue source meets the needs of those Florida cities and counties that are among the most crime plagued in the nation; it meets the needs of those communities which are struggling to provide other fundamental public services; it allows property tax relief in many communities.

By giving local governments the option of enacting this program, we are allowing local communities to determine if the money is needed.

Don't the citizens deserve an alternative to property tax increases?

Don't the people who are rising up all over Florida to restore law and order to their communities deserve to have the resources to win the war against crime?

Your willingness to commit adequate resources is fundamental to reducing crime.

We need these resources, but we need more.

Four of Florida's criminal provisions should be amended because they are now more permissive than those of the federal government:

Therefore:

—I urge you to allow judges to deny bail to protect community safety and thwart criminals who will otherwise flee from justice.

—I urge you to amend our law which excludes evidence of criminal activity, to make it tougher to eliminate such evidence from trials for narrow technical reasons.

—I urge you to expand law enforcement officers' use of electronic devices in apprehending criminals.

—And I urge you to enact a use immunity statute for more effective investigations and prosecutions within the protection of rights guaranteed by the United States Constitution.

In each of these areas, Florida law is now more permissive than the United States Constitution as interpreted by the United States Supreme Court.

How would you answer the question: Why did you allow this advantage to the criminal to continue in Florida?

I am also today calling for legislation to bring greater safety to those who are among the most vulnerable to crime—the elderly and the handicapped.

There is no aspect of crime that touches me more personally or causes our citizens more anger than the victimization of those who especially deserve our respect and veneration.

You should adopt a law which sends this message to would-be muggers, and robbers and worse: Criminals convicted of a crime against an elderly or handicapped person will be denied probation or a suspension of sentence.

They will serve time behind bars.

Yes, this time of responsibility proposes challenges for us in the coming weeks.

Floridians have told me—as they have told you—that there must be an end to the grim spectre of crime that haunts too many of our streets.

They have told us that we must be prudent with their taxes. They have told us that we must responsibly plan for our future and create the jobs and build the roads that will ensure Florida's economic well-being.

The people have told us that we must conserve and protect the state's unique environment, and that we must not ignore the needs of the poor, the sick and the aged.

The people have told us of the importance of their children's education.

I know the difficulties of this time of responsibility. I recognize that there will be no quick and easy consensus on all the issues before us.

I approach our challenges with optimism. I urge you to join with me. I pledge to work with you.

Following the Governor's address, the committee previously appointed escorted the Governor from the rostrum and from the House chamber, followed by the Lieutenant Governor, members of the Cabinet and Justices of the Supreme Court.

On motion by Senator Dunn, the joint session was dissolved at 11:40 a.m. and the Senators were escorted from the House Chamber by the Senate Sergeant at Arms.

VETOED BILLS 1981 REGULAR SESSION

Honorable W. D. Childers January 18, 1982
President of the Senate

- SB 156 Relating to hit-and-run drivers
- CS for
- SB 293 Relating to contracting
- SB 643 Relating to postsecondary education
- SB 974 Relating to indemnification for loss or damage of art and artifacts

Sincerely,
George Firestone
Secretary of State

Honorable George Firestone June 25, 1981
Secretary of State

Dear Mr. Secretary:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of the State of Florida under the provisions of Article III, Section 8 of the Constitution of the State of Florida, I hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections Senate Bill 156, enacted by the Seventh Legislature of Florida under the Florida Constitution, 1968 Revision, during the Regular Session of 1981, and entitled:

An act relating to hit-and-run drivers; amending s. 775.15 (6), Florida Statutes, and adding subsection (7) to such section; specifying a period of time within which the prosecution of a hit-and-run offense must occur; providing an effective date.

Senate Bill 156 changes the period for the commencement of the prosecution of an offense by a hit-and-run driver to seven years after the offense is committed. Present legislative policy, embodied in Section 775.17, Florida Statutes, provides that the statute of limitations varies according to the seriousness of the offense committed as reflected by the classification of the offense as a particular degree of misdemeanor or felony.

Presently, the prosecution for a capital or life felony may be commenced at any time. The prosecution of a first degree felony must be commenced within four years after it is committed, and the prosecution of any other felony must be commenced within three years after it is committed. A prosecution for a first degree misdemeanor must be commenced within two years after it is committed, and a prosecution of a second degree misdemeanor must be commenced within one year after it is committed.

Senate Bill 156 would defeat this logical scheme and provide that regardless of the seriousness of the underlying offense, as long as the offense was committed by a hit-and-run driver, the statute of limitation would be seven years. The following examples will serve to illustrate the inequities that would result from the bill. If a person took a club and smashed the driver's side of your car parked on the side of the street and his action resulted in $190 worth of damage, the person would be guilty of second degree misdemeanor with a one-year statute of limitations. However, if the same damage was done by a person driving his car into your car, who then left the scene of the accident, although still guilty of a second degree misdemeanor, the statute of limitations would be seven years. Likewise, if a person intentionally and with premeditation shot another, resulting in the injured person's death, he would be guilty of a capital felony on which prosecution could be commenced at any time. However, if a car was used as the instrumentality of the crime rather than a gun, the statute of limitations would be reduced to seven years.

Because of the inequities that could potentially result with the passage of this bill, I hereby withhold my approval of Senate Bill 156, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Bob Graham
Governor

Honorable George Firestone
Secretary of State

July 2, 1981

Dear Mr. Secretary:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of the State of Florida, I hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections Senate Bill 293 enacted by the Seventh Legislature of Florida under the Florida Constitution, 1968 Revision, during the Regular Session of 1981, and entitled:

"An act relating to contracting; amending the introductory paragraph of s. 489.105(3), Florida Statutes, 1980 Supplement, adding paragraph (n) to said section; providing for the removal of registration requirements for plumbing contractors; providing for the prorated refund of plumbing contractors license fees; defining 'underground utility contractor'; providing for the inclusion of underground utility contractors among Division II contractors supervised by the Construction Industry Licensing Board; redefining specialty contractor to conform to changes made by this act; amending s. 489.107(2), (5), (6), Florida Statutes, 1980 Supplement; increasing regular and alternate membership of the board to provide for representation of underground utility contractors; increasing the number required for a quorum of the board; amending s. 489.113(3), Florida Statutes, 1980 Supplement; providing an exception to the requirement that general contractors subcontract certain work relating to sewer and water mains; repealing s. 489.113(6), Florida Statutes, as amended, relating to the board's authority to designate those types of specialty contractors which may be certified; providing for conditional repeal of this act; providing an effective date."

Senate Bill 293 created a new category of licensure in the construction industry. The underground utility contractor would be certified by the State and the Board would have two certified utility contractors added to it. On its face, it is legislation I would have approved. However, amended into this legislation were provisions that eliminate the registration of plumbers. This is a matter of concern because it treats one category of contractors differently from others.

The purpose of regulation is to protect the health, safety and welfare of the citizens of Florida. The regulatory scheme the Legislature created for the construction industry was both local registration and State certification. There is no substantial reason to treat the registered plumber differently from any other registered category of contractors.

I recognize that the main purpose of Senate Bill 293 is the licensure for underground utility contractors. On June 24, 1981, the Construction Licensing Board issued a retraction of its previous letter which erroneously stated that the specialty license provisions of Chapter 489 could not be used to license underground utility contractors. I am strongly urging the Board to utilize its specialty contractor authority to license underground utility contractors along the same lines as Senate Bill 293.

Further, prior to the 1982 legislative session, I am directing the Program Evaluation Office, Office of Planning and Budgeting, Executive Office of the Governor, in conjunction with the Department of Professional Regulation and the Construction Licensing Board, to conduct a review of the State registration procedures for all trades under the Board to evaluate the public purposes it serves.

For the above reasons, I am withholding my approval of Senate Bill 293, Regular Session of the Legislature, commencing on April 7, 1981, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Bob Graham
Governor

Honorable George Firestone
Secretary of State

July 8, 1981

Dear Mr. Secretary:

By the authority vested in me as governor of Florida under the provisions of Article III, Section 8 of the Constitution of the State of Florida, I hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections Senate Bill 357 enacted by the Seventh Legislature of Florida under the Florida Constitution, 1968 Revision, during the Regular Session of 1981 and entitled:

An act relating to the Student Financial Aid Trust Fund; amending s. 240.417, Florida Statutes; authorizing the use of such fund for student financial aid programs; deleting the requirement that administrative expenses for such programs be paid from the Student Financial Aid Trust Fund; providing an effective date.

Senate Bill 357 impacts student financial assistance in two areas:

First, it expands the use of the Student Financial Aid Trust Fund by allowing the fee generating institution that receive reallocated fees through the Student Financial Aid Trust Fund to use those funds for any financial aid program, rather than limiting use to student loans. Second, the requirement that funds presently unallocated be used to meet administrative expenses is deleted.

Student loans in Florida were originally provided through the issuance of revenue bonds. Security for these bonds was provided through the Student Financial Aid Trust Fund which was funded through student fees. When the federal government took over the securing of student loans, the collection of these fees became unnecessary and previously collected fees in the amount of $10,475,000 were reallocated to the generating institutions. These fees were statutorily required to be used for student loan purposes after administrative expenses had been met and up to $150,000 had been used to establish a financial aid data processing system for the State University System. Presently, $2,203,386 in unallocated fees remain after the data processing obligations are deducted. It is the use of these unallocated funds that this bill negatively impacts. Though the expansion of the use of presently allocated funds is a positive action which I support, deleting the authority to continue to use the $2,203,386 in unallocated funds for administrative purposes would create an unreasonable hardship on the Department of Education in its ability to properly fund administration of financial assistance programs in Florida. The co-mingling of these funds with other administrative trust monies used for funding financial assistance administrative costs prevents the deciphering of the exact portion of the unallocated money due the institutions. Additionally, the depletion of The Student Financial Aid Trust Fund for administrative purposes has reduced the balance well below the original unallocated figure of $2,203,386. Presently, insufficient monies exist in The Student Financial Aid Trust Fund to reallocate this amount. It is my opinion that financial assistance administration would be negatively impacted if the remainder of Student Financial Aid Trust funds were withdrawn and reallocated. Further, the depletion of this trust fund would initiate a policy change in the funding of financial assistance administration which was not addressed by the legislature.

For these reasons, I am withholding my approval of Senate Bill 357 and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Bob Graham
Governor

Honorable George Firestone
Secretary of State

July 2, 1981

Dear Mr. Secretary:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section Eight, of the Constitution of the State of Florida, I hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections Senate Bill 643 enacted by the Seventh Legislature of Florida under the Florida Constitution, 1968 Revision, during the Regular Session of 1981, and entitled:

An act relating to postsecondary education; amending s. 240.241(2), Florida Statutes, 1980 Supplement; providing for the exemption of certain specified information generated or received in the course of research within state universities from Chapter 119, Florida Statutes; providing an effective date.

This bill would amend Section 240.241, Florida Statutes, to provide that materials relating to sponsored research conducted within the State University System shall be exempt from the provisions of Chapter 119, Florida Statutes, the public records law.

The effect of Senate Bill 643 would be to prevent the public from obtaining information on the nature of sponsored research in the State University System. Because of the broad nature of the language in the bill, the public could be prohibited from having access to information essential to an understanding of the functions and operations of a public agency, such as the topic of sponsored research, and the cost and allocation of public resources to conduct such research.

Florida's landmark public records law clearly states that it is the policy of this State that all State records shall at all times be open for a personal inspection by any person.

Exceptions to this openness of records should be made only when there is overriding and compelling evidence that it is in the public interest to do so, and in a manner which is strictly limited to achieve that specific public purpose.

There is a public interest in promoting a partnership of public universities and private interest in expanding knowledge. Frequently this partnership depends upon assurances to the private interest that its proprietary information will be maintained in confidence. Had Senate Bill 643 sought to achieve this limited public purpose, I would have signed it into law. In fact, during the consideration of this bill, it was proposed that all research data and material received from private industries remain confidential. The public would have retained the right to know the subject matter of university research and the amount of funds spent on any research project. This compromise was not included in the final version of the legislation. This bill has created a public debate on the university's role in research. Discussions of the purpose and goals of such research are vital as Florida continues to emphasize excellence in its post-secondary education institutions and these discussions, hopefully, will continue. Our universities have an obligation to maintain their positions at the frontier of important research in the public interest. We must consider means to select research programs which reinforce this obligation, and methods of conducting such research that guarantee a commitment to excellence. This debate underscores the necessity of an open exchange of ideas as the only forum in which the frontiers of human understanding can be expanded.

I am committed to working in the future to meeting the needs of private industries in protecting their proprietary interests as they contribute to the research interests of our universities and the economic interests of the State. We must do so, however, in a manner which neither erodes the spirit of the public records law or the fundamental condition for intellectual inquiry.

For the above reasons, I am withholding my approval of Senate Bill 643, Regular Session of the Legislature, commencing on April 7, 1981, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Bob Graham
Governor

Dear Mr. Secretary:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of the State of Florida, I hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections Senate Bill 974 enacted by the Seventh Legislature of Florida under the Florida Constitution 1968 Revision, during the Regular Session of 1981, and entitled:

An act relating to indemnification for loss or damage of art and artifacts; creating ss. 265.51-265.57, Florida Statutes; providing for indemnification against loss or damage for certain eligible items; providing for an application for an indemnity agreement from the Department of State; requiring the Department of Insurance to establish a list of eligible arts institutions; providing for review of applications for indemnification coverage; providing limits on indemnification; establishing the Florida Arts Indemnity Trust Fund; providing for claims; requiring the Department of State to report to the Legislature; providing for payment of certain claims from the Working Capital Trust Fund; providing an effective date.

Senate Bill 974 was repealed by House Bill 10B during the 1981 Special Session. This legislation authorizes the establishment of the Florida Arts Indemnity Trust Fund and sets the limits of claims as the balance of the Trust Fund. Senate Bill 974, as amended by the Senate and adopted by the House, contains two funding provisions that are internally inconsistent and therefore, incompatible. One provision under Section 1 of the bill establishes the Florida Arts Indemnity Trust Fund and limits indemnity coverage to the balance of the fund. The other funding provision in the bill authorizes payment from the Working Capital Fund.

Following the Regular Session, the Legislature realized that Senate Bill 974 contained these incompatible provisions on funding the claims. To correct the error and to ensure workable legislation for providing arts indemnity coverage, the Legislature passed House Bill 10B during the 1981 Special Session expressly repealing Senate Bill 974. To avoid any possible questions of conflict, I have chosen to not allow Senate Bill 974 to stand.

For the above reason, I am withholding my approval of Senate Bill 974, Regular Session of the Legislature, commencing on April 7, 1981, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Bob Graham
Governor

Dear Mr. Secretary:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida under the provisions of Article III, Section 8, of the Constitution of the State of Florida, I hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections Senate Bill 1046, enacted by the Seventh Legislature of Florida under the Florida Constitution, 1968 Revision, during the Regular Session of 1981, and entitled:

"An act for the relief for the Town of Hillsboro Beach; providing an appropriation to compensate him for losses incurred due to the negligence of the Department of Corrections; providing an effective date."

This claims bill proposes to compensate the Town of Hillsboro Beach for a State Revenue Sharing warrant which was issued in June, 1977, but subsequently lost, and to reimburse Jerry D. Coker for losses sustained as the result of actions taken by an inmate employed by him while on work release from the Department of Corrections.

The appropriation to compensate the Town of Hillsboro Beach is unnecessary because it duplicates the appropriation in Section 1, Specific Appropriation 1135A of the 1981 General Appropriations Act. Further, the relief sought by Jerry D. Coker in this legislation may be obtained under the provisions of Sections 402.181 and 768.28, Florida Statutes. Prior to enactment of special legislation benefiting Mr. Coker, he should exhaust the remedies available under current statutes to individuals with claims. Therefore, I recommend that the claimant file his claim with the Division of Risk Management of the Department of Insurance for an orderly determination of the legal liability of the State.

For these reasons, I am hereby withholding my approval of Senate Bill 1046, Regular Session of the Legislature, commencing on April 7, 1981, and do hereby veto same.

Sincerely,
Bob Graham

Dear Mr. Secretary:

By the authority vested in me as Governor of Florida, under the provisions of Article III, Section Eight of the Constitution of the State of Florida, I hereby withhold my approval of and transmit to you with my objections Senate Bill 1107 enacted by the Seventh Legislature of Florida under the Florida Constitution 1968 Revision during the Regular Session of 1981, and entitled:

"An act relating to Escambia County; providing for the acquisition and development of Ellyson Field by the Pensacola-Escambia Promotion and Development Commission; authorizing the Escambia County Board of County Commissioners to transfer funds to the Pensacola-Escambia Promotion and Development Commission for the acquisition and development of Ellyson Field; authorizing the Pensacola-Escambia Promotion and Development Commission to issue revenue bonds and notes to carry out the purposes of this act; providing that the development of Ellyson Field not be designated a development of regional impact as defined in s. 380.06, Florida Statutes; providing that Ellyson Field be classified and zoned by the Escambia County Board of County Commissioners as an Industrial Development Park; providing that the powers granted by chapter 80-579, Laws of Florida; providing an effective date."

The bill exempts the development of Ellyson Field as an industrial park from the provisions of the Development of Regional Impact process, as contained in Chapter 380, Florida Statutes.

The development of regional impact process was established to provide a review of projects which, because of their character, magnitude or location, would have an impact outside the county in which the project was located. This process recognizes that major developments have regional implications and that citizens of the region, as well as those of the county of location, deserve an opportunity to participate in the determination of the appropriateness of the proposed development.

Senate Bill 1107 would establish a precedent by allowing this project, through passage of a local bill, to escape the regional review requirements of Chapter 380, Florida Statutes. The effect of such a local bill is to circumvent the very purpose of the development of regional impact concept and to deny participation to the citizens of the region in these decisions which are important to the future of the region.

For the above reason, I am withholding my approval of Senate Bill 1107, Regular Session of the Florida Legislature, and do hereby veto the same.

Sincerely,
Bob Graham
Governor

The bills, together with the Governor's objections thereto, were referred to the Committee on Rules and Calendar.

Pursuant to the motion by Senator Dunn, upon dissolution of the joint session, the Senate adjourned to reconvene at the call of the President or 9:00 a.m., Tuesday, January 19.
