SUMMARY ANALYSIS

HB 875 w/CS concerns drivers who run red lights, and drivers who cause crashes. Under the bill:

- o Section 316.075, F.S., is amended to require a person who runs a red light and causes a crash to attend a mandatory hearing under Section 318.19, F.S.
- o Section 318.14, F.S., is amended to require persons who cause crashes resulting in death to pay a $1,000 fine, have their license suspended for 6 months, and appear at a mandatory court hearing. Individuals who cause crashes resulting in serious bodily harm will pay a fine of $500, have their license suspended for 3 months, and appear at a mandatory court hearing. Individuals who cause crashes resulting in any bodily harm will pay a fine of $200, have their license suspended for 30 days, and attend a mandatory court hearing.
- o Section 318.18 (13), F.S., is amended to increase the fine for running a red light from $60 to $125.
- o Section 318.19, F.S., is amended to require mandatory court hearings for persons who cause a crash resulting in any bodily injury. It also requires a mandatory court hearing for any person running a red light and causing a crash.
- o Section 322.0261, F.S., is amended to require individuals who run 2 red lights within 12 months to attend a driver improvement course. Failure to attend a course within 90 days of notification from the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles will result in the cancellation of the person's drivers license until the course is completed.
- o Section 322.27, F.S. is amended to assess 4 points against the drivers license of any individual who runs a red light.

The bill is expected to increase the workload for designated hearing officials and to require law enforcement officers to spend more time attending hearings. However, imposition of mandatory penalties and new fines contained in HB 875 w/CS may have a substantial positive fiscal impact on state and local governments. For more detail, see the FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT section of this analysis.

Reduce Government?

Under the bill, a citation for certain traffic infractions will result in a mandatory hearing where no such hearing is required under current law. In addition, the bill imposes increased mandatory fines and license suspensions for certain traffic infractions.

B. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Current Situation

Mandatory Hearings

Florida law requires a mandatory hearing following a citation for certain civil traffic infractions. These infractions are:

- Any infraction resulting in a crash that causes the death of another;
- Any infraction resulting in a crash that causes “serious bodily injury” to another;
- Passing a school bus on the door side while the bus displays a stop signal; and
- Certain infractions concerning loads on vehicles.

Any person who commits one of these infractions may not dispose of the matter by submitting payment of the fine by mail or by making the driver improvement course election. Instead, the person committing the infraction must appear before the designated official at a scheduled hearing.

Persons who have elected to appear at a hearing, or who are required to do so, are considered as having waived the right to the regular civil penalty provisions for traffic infractions. Instead, upon a finding that the person committed the charged traffic infraction, the official conducting the hearing may impose a civil penalty up to $500. If the infraction involves unlawful speed in a school or construction zone, or involves death, the official may impose a civil penalty up to $1,000. These civil penalty amounts are authorized, but they are not mandatory. The official conducting the hearing has discretion in choosing how much of a penalty, if any, to impose against a person found to have committed the infraction.

Under these provisions, a person committing an infraction resulting in the death of another person is required to appear before a designated official and may be subject to a $1,000 fine. A person committing an infraction that results in the “serious bodily injury” of another is also required to appear before a designated official, but may be subject to a $500 fine. The increased penalty is not mandatory. A person committing an infraction resulting in an injury to a person that is not considered “serious bodily injury”, is not subject to a mandatory hearing, and is not subject to enhanced penalties.

“Serious bodily injury” is defined as an injury which consists of a physical condition that creates a substantial risk of death, serious personal disfigurement, or protracted loss or impairment of the function of any bodily member or organ. The precise point at which bodily injury becomes serious is unclear as the foregoing definition is open to interpretation. According to the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles, a law enforcement officer issuing a citation makes the determination whether a bodily injury is serious and, therefore, whether a mandatory hearing is required.

Furthermore, DHSMV is authorized to suspend a driver’s license in the event that a person violates any traffic law that results in a crash causing the death or personal injury to another or property damage in excess of $500. According to DHSMV, upon a review of its records, the department suspends the driver’s license of any person meeting these criteria who are subject to a mandatory hearing. A suspension is lifted if at the hearing the designated official finds the accused not guilty of the offense or infraction.

Red Light Running

The law prohibits traffic from entering an intersection when facing a steady red traffic signal (red light running). Violation of this prohibition is a moving traffic infraction punishable by a $60 civil fine. If a red light runner causes a crash or an injury, that person may be subject to a license suspension or an enhanced penalty, under the circumstances described above. However, if the violation results in a crash that does not cause death or serious bodily injury, the driver is not subject to enhanced penalties. Even in cases involving death or serious bodily injury, imposition of the authorized enhanced penalty is a matter of the designated official’s discretion.

Under current law, it is possible that a red light runner could cause a crash seriously injuring someone and suffer no more than a $60 fine and a brief suspension of driving privileges.

Points

Points are assessed against a person’s driver’s license upon violation of certain traffic laws so that DHSMV may determine the continuing qualification of any person to operate a motor vehicle. DHSMV may suspend the license of any person who accumulates 12 or more points against a license in a 12-month period. The point assignments are as follows:

- Reckless driving, willful and wanton – 4 points.
- Leaving the scene of a crash resulting in property damage – 6 points.
- Unlawful speed resulting in a crash – 6 points.
- Passing a stopped school bus – 4 points.
- Excessive speed, 15 mph over or less – 3 points.
- Excessive speed, more than 15 mph over – 4 points.
- All other moving violations – 3 points.
- Any moving violation resulting in a crash except excessive speed – 4 points.
- Littering – 3 points.

Effect of Proposed Changes

HB 875 w/CS requires a mandatory hearing when a person commits an infraction resulting in a crash causing any bodily injury or death.

- If the infraction results in a crash causing death, and at the hearing the person is found to have committed the infraction, the designated official must impose a civil penalty of $1,000 in addition to any other penalties, and suspend the person’s driver’s license for 6 months.

- If the infraction results in a crash causing serious bodily injury, and at the hearing the person is found to have committed the infraction, the designated official must impose a civil penalty of $500 in addition to any other penalties, and suspend the person's driver's license for 3 months.
- If the infraction results in a crash causing any bodily injury other than that defined as serious, and at the hearing the person is found to have committed the infraction, the designated official must impose a civil penalty of $200 in addition to any other penalties, and suspend the person's driver's license for 30 days.
- If a person runs a red light, and a crash occurs, a mandatory hearing is required, and the designated official presiding over the hearing is authorized to impose a civil penalty of up to $500, and 4 points is assessed against his or her license.
- If a person runs a red light and no crash occurs, the person is subject to a $125 fine, and 4 points assessed against his or her driver's license.
- If a person commits the offense of running a red light a second time within 12 months after the first violation, he or she must attend a driver improvement course to maintain driving privileges.

Of the $125 fine imposed against red light running, $60 is distributed in the same manner as the current fine, and the other $65 is to be remitted to the General Revenue Fund.

Section 3. Amends s. 318.18, F.S., to provide that a red light violation results in a $125 fine, and provide for distribution of the fine.

Section 4. Amends s. 318.19, F.S., to require a mandatory hearing for an infraction resulting in a crash that causes any bodily injury or death, or for a red light violation.

II. FISCAL ANALYSIS & ECONOMIC IMPACT STATEMENT

A. FISCAL IMPACT ON STATE GOVERNMENT:

1. Revenues:

The estimated fiscal impact of this bill to the General Revenue Fund is a positive $41.3 million in 2003-2004 and $61.2 million in 2004-2005.

2. Expenditures:

According to DHSMV, HB 875 w/CS requires 80 hours of contracted programming at $135 per hour at a total cost of $10,800 to modify the Driver License Software System. Accordingly, a state impact of ($10,800) is anticipated.

B. FISCAL IMPACT ON LOCAL GOVERNMENTS:

1. Revenues:

The revenue generated from increased collection of fines imposed at mandatory hearings, above in State Impacts, is indeterminate, and therefore, the positive fiscal impact on local governments is indeterminate.

2. Expenditures:

Enforcement of the bill's provisions is expected to result in an indeterminate increase in the number of traffic infraction cases requiring a hearing, thereby creating an indeterminate increased burden on hearing officials, and an indeterminate increase in the amount of time law enforcement officers are required to attend hearings.

C. DIRECT ECONOMIC IMPACT ON PRIVATE SECTOR:

HB 875 w/CS requires the mandatory imposition of civil penalties and suspension of driver's licenses on any person found to have committed a traffic infraction resulting in a crash causing the bodily injury or death of another person. The bill also increases the penalty for red light running from $60 to $125.

D. FISCAL COMMENTS:

See above.

III. COMMENTS

A. CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUES:

1. Applicability of Municipality/County Mandates Provision:

Not applicable because the bill does not appear to: require counties or cities to spend funds or take action requiring the expenditure of funds; reduce the authority that cities or counties have to raise revenues in the aggregate; or reduce the percentage of a state tax shared with cities or counties.

2. Other:

None.

B. RULE-MAKING AUTHORITY:

HB 875 w/CS does not require any grant or exercise of rule-making authority to implement its provisions.

C. DRAFTING ISSUES OR OTHER COMMENTS:

IV. AMENDMENTS/COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE CHANGES

On March 18, 2003, the Committee on transportation adopted one amendment by Rep. Gardiner, and reported the bill favorably with a committee substitute. The amendment requires a mandatory hearing for running a red light, and provides enhanced penalties for that infraction.

The Finance and Tax Committee adopted two amendments which state that mandatory civil penalties under Section 318.14, F.S., and the $65 penalty assessed under Section 318.18, F.S., are to be remitted to the General Revenue Fund of the State of Florida.
