FULL ANALYSIS

I. SUBSTANTIVE ANALYSIS

A. EFFECT OF PROPOSED CHANGES:

Current Situation:

Home Health Agencies:

Home health agencies are licensed by AHCA pursuant to s. 400.464, F.S. Home health agencies provide health services¹ and staffing services² to a client in the client's home or place of residence such as an assisted living facility, adult family care home, nursing home, or hospital. Home health agency personnel are persons who are employed by or under contract with the agency and who enter the patient's home or place of residence at any time in the course of their employment or contract.³ Home health services may include nursing care, physical, occupational service, respiratory or speech therapy, home health aide services, dietetics and nutrition practice and nutrition counseling, and medical supplies that are prescribed by a physician. According to AHCA, there are 1,225 home health agencies in Florida as of December 2008.

Nurse Registries:

Nurse registries are licensed by AHCA pursuant to s. 400.506, F.S. A nurse registry acts as an employment agency between an individual patient and a nurse, nursing assistant, home health aide, companion or homemaker, to provide services to a patient or client in the patient or client's home or place of residence. The nurse registry contracts with each health care worker—as an independent contractor⁴—and, unlike a home health agency, a nurse registry is not required to carry liability insurance. Nurse registry services are limited to nursing care provided by a licensed registered nurse or licensed practical nurse; care and services provided by certified nursing assistants⁵ or home health aides; or homemaker or companion services.⁶ Nurse registry services may also contract to provide private duty or staffing services to health care facilities such hospitals, nursing homes, assisted living facilities, adult family-care homes, and other entities.⁷ According to AHCA, there are 314 licensed nurse registries in Florida as of February 2009.

Homemaker and Companion Service Organizations:

Homemaker and companion service organizations are registered by AHCA pursuant to s. 400.509, F.S. A homemaker and companion service organization provides limited services by “homemakers” and “companions” (or “sitters”). A homemaker is defined as a person who performs household chores that include housekeeping, meal planning and preparation, shopping assistance, and routine household activities for an elderly, handicapped, or convalescent individual.⁸ A “companion” is defined as a person who spends time with or cares for an elderly, handicapped, or convalescent individual and accompanies such individual on trips and outings and may prepare and serve meals to such individual.⁹ Neither a homemaker nor a companion may provide hands-on personal care such as bathing, dressing, or personal hygiene, ambulation, or administer medication to a client.¹⁰ According to AHCA, there are 1,921 registered organizations providing homemaker and companion services in Florida as of February 2009.

Patient or Client Information Notice

A nurse registry or its independent contractor should inform the patient, his family or guardian that the nurse or other worker that is hired to provide services to the patient or client, is an independent contractor of the nurse registry. Nurse registries are required to instruct these independent contractors that it is their responsibility to pay self-employment estimated taxes, as part of their contract with the registry as required in Rule 59A-18.005(7), F.A.C. Currently, there is no requirement for home health agencies or homemaker and companion service organizations to provide such instructions.

AHCA has no legal authority regarding the payment of employer Social Security taxes—the Internal Revenue Service is responsible for regulating employer payment of Social Security taxes. AHCA also has no statutory authority regarding the supervision, assigning duties, hiring, firing and discipline, or providing of equipment and materials by nurse registries and organizations providing homemaker companion services.¹¹

Effect of Proposed Changes:

CS/HB 1025 requires nurse registries and organizations that offer companion or homemaker services to provide notice of certain information to patients or clients who contract to use such services. Specifically, these organizations would be required to:

- Identify the nurse registry or organization as the referring entity providing the service; and,
- Identify the individual or entity who is responsible for:
 - Patient supervision;
 - Assigning duties;
 - Hiring, firing and disciplining;
 - Providing equipment or necessary materials;
 - Checking references; and,
 - Withholding social security taxes.

The notice must be signed by the patient, client or legal representative no later than the date the contract for services was executed and must be retained by the nurse registry or organization for at least three years.

The bill directs the Agency for Health Care Administration (AHCA or “the department”) to develop the consumer notice.

This bill does not appear to have a fiscal impact on state or local governments.
